Student Leaders Join Ranks To Ask Ramstad To Resign

Executive Council Resolution Cites Alleged Administrative Misconduct

The College of Marin Student Executive Council yesterday unanimously passed a resolution censuring Superintendent-President William K. Ramstad for alleged undemocratic procedures in college planning and asked for his resignation.

The vote, by the eight members who attended the 14-member council session, joins the council with identical stands by the faculty's academic senate and the Associated Students of the college.

The resolution declares Ramstad "violated the basic principles of democracy and academic freedom on several occasions during his presidency," that the "ethical right of students and faculty to participate in policy recommending has been ignored," and that "violations of those rights directly affect the student body by weakening its strength in the committee system."

It includes, "therefore, be it resolved that the executive council of the Associated Students of the College of Marin go on record as censuring the superintendent-president's conduct and calls for his immediate resignation."

David Long, council treasurer, said he would read the resolution at the regularly scheduled noon general student assembly today, then present it to the Marin Junior College District Board at its meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Kentfield campus physical education building.

ASSEMBLY ISSUE

He said the noon assembly, held each Thursday, was to be moved onto the lawn in front of Harlan Hall, and was to deal solely with the Ramstad issue. Long, presiding in the absence of Paul Tuttle, student president who is in Los Angeles today, said both Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy, board president, and Ramstad were invited to attend the assembly and speak.

He reported Mrs. Deedy said she would not appear, but was to send a statement to be read. Ramstad declined to attend and speak, Long said.

Michael Albaugh, student public relations commissioner, said the invitations to speak were a student effort to "make this as two-sided as possible."

EARLIER CALL

The academic senate earlier called for Ramstad's resignation, charging he has disregarded the "basic professional and democratic values of the academic community" in not seeking its help in college planning, including planning for a north campus near Novato, and for his part in creating a presidency post at an April 4 board meeting. Ramstad was elevated at that meeting to the post of superintendent of the district as of July 1.

The Associated Students published a newspaper Monday in which it reported that a petition seeking Ramstad's resignation would be circulated this week. The petition is to be presented at today's board meeting, students said.

Phone Strike On; 165,000 Are Involved

400 In Marin Will Join Walkout; First Since '47

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Joseph A. Beirne of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers said today "the strike is on" in the frst nationwide walkout of some 165,000 telephone workers in 21 years.

Beirne said union men set up picket lines in Alabama at 2 p.m. EST because of threats of intimidation by the Southern Bell Telephone Co.

Workers in 15 other states, the District of Columbia and the union's 23,000 installers who work nationwide will go out at 3 p.m (EST), Beirne said.

Informal wage talks between the union and the Bell Telephone System broke off and the union spokesman described negotiations as in a state of collapse.

Ted Homen, president of the Marin County Local No. 9404, yesterday instructed the 400 union members in Marin to be off the job by noon today. Homen, in a recorded telephone message, told union members to check with strike headquarters at 701 Mission Street, San Rafael, for picket assignments.

A strike is not expected to cause much interruption of telephone service at first because of the highly automated nationwide network of telephone equipment.

The union said there would be breakdowns in equipment for lack of repair if the strike lasted very long.

"We will maintain service and it will be good service," said H. I. Romnes, chairman of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent firm of the Bell System.

EARLY ESTIMATE

The union revised downward its earlier estimate that nearly 200,000 workers would be involved at the start.

The strike would involve 23,000 telephone installers around the nation who work for the Western Electric Co., a Bell subsidiary; 2,000 at the Western Electric manufacturing plant in Buffalo, N.Y., and about 140,000 Bell operators, clerks, repairmen, test men, linemen and other workers in 14 states and the District of Columbia.

However, Bell System contracts covering another 116,000 communications workers in 16 other states expire between April 26 and May 14, the union said.

STRIKE IN 1947

The last nationwide telephone strike in 1947 lasted 44 days.

Although talks were broken off, the union spokesman said: "We will continue to work for some kind of settlement."

There appeared no immediate indication of any federal intervention except for voluntary mediation.

"We have been talking to the parties, we are still talking to the parties and intend to continue," said federal mediator Walter Maggiolo.

"We are going on strike because it is the right thing to do," said the union spokesman.

"But we are not frozen" on contract demands, he added. "We are willing to keep talking."

Marin Labor Council Backs Phone Walkout

The Marin County Labor Council last night voted to sanction the strike by the Communication Workers of America Local No. 9404 in Marin County against the Pacific Telephone Co. The strike was scheduled to begin at noon today.

The council went on record as being in "complete accord and sympathy" with the union's request for a salary increase, James Smith, labor council secretary, reported.

The council also endorsed a request by the Social Workers Union Local No. 535 that county supervising personnel be placed in the local's bargaining unit.

Smith also reported that the council has agreed to co-sponsor a forum on the War on Poverty with the League of Women Voters of Central Marin. The forum will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. April 27 in Olney Hall, at the College of Marin, Kentfield.

The council will hold a candidates night on May 1 at 701 Mission Street, San Rafael. The 12 candidates for three Marin supervisorial districts will appear at scheduled intervals during the regular business meeting from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., Smith said.

Income Sets Record Gain For Quarter

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The greatest quarterly gain in personal income on record was announced today by the Commerce Department. Almost half of it resulted from increased Social Security payments.

Personal income increased $16 billion during the first three months of the year with a $6.7 billion increase in March to reach a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $666 billion.

This was not only the largest quarterly rise on the record but was an increase of 7.5 per cent, or $45.7 billion, over the income level reached during the first three months of 1967.

Nearly $3.3 billion of the $6.7 billion March increase was accounted for by increased Social Security checks as authorized by Congress.

Wages and salaries for private businesses showed a more modest gain of $1.3 billion in March after a $5.7 billion increase in February to reach a $358.5 billion rate level. Government's salaries rose at a rapid rate —to $92.4 billion from $91.6 billion because of increased employment and higher pay scales.

Abernathy Sets Capital March

ATLANTA (UPI)—Rev. Ralph Abernathy Dr. Martin Luther King's successor, announced today that King's planned "poor people's campaign" on Washington would begin May 2—with a prelude on April 29.

Abernathy said "thousands" would converge on the capitol from Memphis, Mississippi, Boston and Chicago.

He said he would lead a contingent of 100 persons into Washington on April 29 as a prelude, and after talking with officials, would return to Memphis — where King was killed—to begin the main march May 2.

He said the groups would march for two days in each state they pass through, traveling by car the remainder of the way.

Bond Of $10,000 Frees Rap Brown

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (UPI)—Black Power militant H. Rap Brown, charged with inciting to riot and arson here, was released on $10,000 bond today and left for New York City.

Brown, 24, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, faces the charges in connection with racial violence that erupted here last July following one of his speeches. He was taken before Circuit Court Judge C. Burnam Mace under heavy police guard after he was handed over to Maryland authorities at 9 a.m. today by federal officials.

Kosygin Calls For Talks Now

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The government of Pakistan announced today in the capital of Rawalpindi it had agreed to a request from the United States to offer its territory as a site for preliminary Vietnam peace talks.

The announcement took on added significance because of the current visit to Pakistan of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin who urged the United States yesterday to accept Hanoi's offer "immediately."

PARIS OFFER

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville today offered Paris as a site for eventual Vietnam preliminary peace talks and pledged France's support to finding "the solution of a difficult problem."

But a Hanoi Radio broadcast tonight renewed North Vietnam's insistence the talks be held either in Phnom Penh or Warsaw and said the United States has shown a "stubborn attitude" about the talks and has deliberately delayed them.

However several third parties including Russia were reported to be trying to mediate. United Nations Secretary Thant also was reported in contact with Hanoi and Washington to try to end the impasse. He has suggested Paris or Geneva.

The Pakistani announcement said the offer was in response to a cabled request from the U.S. State Department received in Rawalpindi today.

PAKISTAN NEUTRAL

Pakistan has remained officially neutral in the Vietnam conflict although government officials have criticized U.S. involvement there. President Mohammed Ayub Khan sided with the French view opposing

Mrs. Owen Asks Ballot Recount

Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford), who fell 30 votes short of winning a Sausalito City Council seat in last week's election, late this morning filed a demand for a ballot recount at Sausalito City Hall.

Mrs. Owen's attorney, Richard Gladstein, filed the request and posted a deposit of $60 for the first day's wages of an election board.

Mrs. Owen ran fourth among six candidates for three council seats getting 894 votes to 924 by third-place candidate George C. Hoffman.

If Mrs. Owen wins a council seat in the recount, she will get her deposit back. Otherwise the city keeps it to meet expenses.

Federal Dragnet Spread For Galt

The FBI said in a fugitive warrant issued last night in Birmingham, Ala., that Galt, 36, conspired with a man "whom he alleged to be his brother" to violate King's civil rights.

The state charge of first-degree murder was filed against Galt in Memphis where King, 39, Nobel Prize winning civil rights leader, was shot to death on a motel balcony April 4 by a sniper who fled from a nearby rooming house.

First-degree murder in Tennessee carries the death penalty although the electric chair has not been used in the state since 1960.

The maximum penalty under the federal charge of conspiracy to violate a person's civil rights is a $5,000 fine and 10-year prison sentence.

There was no further mention in the FBI statement about the alleged brother and no charge was filed against him.

The FBI statement said a .30.06 rifle equipped with a telescopic sight found near the rooming house shortly after King was slain, was purchased March 30 in Birmingham.

The FBI released a photograph of Galt and solicited public aid in finding him. Whether this appeal meant the trail had become cold was unclear, but U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark told a reporter in Washington that he felt this was not the situation.

Galt 'Nice Fellow' To Los Angeles Tutors

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Eric Starvo Galt, the suspected assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. today was recalled as "a nice fellow" who frequented country and western bars, studied the foxtrot at a dancing school, and bartending at another school, spending some $700 in three months.

Thomas Reyes Lau, director of the International School of bartending here, said a man identifying himself as Eric S. Galt was graduated from the school March 2. "He was a nice fellow with a nice personality," Lau recalled.

Rod Arvidson, manager of the National Dance Studio in nearby Long Beach, said Galt took lessons in "foxtrot, cha cha cha and go - go" from December, 1967, through mid - February, 1968. "He was youngish looking and neatly dressed," Arvidson said.

Employees of country and western bars in the Long Beach area recognized Galt from the photograph distributed by the FBI. One bartender remembered his preference for "vodka and water."

Miss Kathy Nolan, 21, a dance instructor, said she had Galt as a pupil for two to three hours. He told her he had been in the cafe business in Mexico. "He was repressed and withdrawn and no swinger," Miss Nolan said.

"His accent was southern, not Deep South, but somewhere in the middle of Dixie," Arvidson said. "His grammar was poor. And I remember those alligator (shoes) he wore. They just didn't seem to fit his personality."

Lau described Galt as an able bartending student, "very intelligent and had the ability to develop this type of service."

Lau said when Galt paid the $220 tuition fee "he was desperate for a job and wanted to go to work as soon as possible." However, Galt refused a job offered him by Lau after he was graduated.

Lau quoted him as saying:

"Well, I have to leave to go see my brother. What good would it do for me to work for only two or three weeks? I'd better wait until I return to town and get a permanent job."

Lau said Galt did not discuss politics, a recollection echoed by instructors at the dance studio. "He showed no signs of racial prejudice," said Miss Nolan.

Paratroops Ring Red Villages

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. paratroopers trapped 300 North Vietnamese soldiers inside two deserted villages near Hue today and held them while planes and artillery turned the two hideouts into a sea of flames. Nearby B52s carried out massive raids for the second consecutive day.

U.S. 101st Airborne Division troops closed in on the villages and blocked all exits before the bombardment began. The North Vietnamese moved into the villages when the civilian residents were evacuated following the battle of Hue.

TO HELP HUE

The one-sided battle was part of an effort to prevent another offensive against Hue by an estimated 10,000 troops in the A Shau Valley 25 miles west of the ancient city. B52s hit part of the troop concentration with 10 missions for the second day.

U.S. intelligence sources reported large numbers of Communist troops and trucks rumbling through the valley toward Hue and the ripening rice crop on the coastal plain. Intelligence officers said about 10,000 Communist troops are strung out through the A Shau Valley.

In Saigon, American spokesmen said 363 U.S. troops were killed in action last week. It was the highest death toll in five weeks.

TOLL COMPARED

Another 2,694 Americans suffered wounds in combat last week, spokesmen said.

Allied troops last week killed 3,071 Communists. It raised to 327,993 the number of Communist troops killed since 1961. American losses in the same period now total 21,417 men killed and 133,752 wounded.

South Vietnam said 293 of its troops were killed last week, 985 were wounded and 32 reported missing.

In war action, American spokesmen reported fighting underway throughout the northern provinces. It is this area

Second Student Rioting Death; Arrests Viewed

BERLIN (UPI)—West German authorities said today they are considering preventive arrests of radical leftwing student leaders to block threatened renewals of street violence.

They acted after rioting that hit most major West German cities claimed its second life. Munich student Ruediger Schreck, 27, who died of head injuries suffered in a Monday riot. Earlier yesterday a news photographer struck by a cobblestone in the same riot died of his injuries. Officials said it was not known whether Schreck was struck by a rock or by a police club.

POSSIBLE JAILINGS

In Bonn, Interior Minister Ernst Benda said officials were studying the possibility of permitting judges to jail known leaders of demonstrations that could erupt in violence. He said that present policy permits arrested leaders to return to the streets as soon as police have established their identity.

Brenda yesterday told the West German cabinet that a far left group, the Socialist German Students Federation (SDS), was responsible for five days of street fighting in 26 German cities.

The SDS led its followers into the streets last Thursday the day after a Munich house painter who kept a portrait of Adolf Hitler over his bed shot and seriously wounded the group's leader, Rudi (Red Rudi) Dutschke. Both Dutschke and his assailant, wounded by police after the shooting, are recovering in a Berlin hospital.

PAPER ATTACKS

Much of the student fury was directed at the anti-Communist newspaper publishing empire of Axel Springer which they accused of "coguilt" in the attack of Dutschke.

Scores of police and students were injured in the clashes and photographer, Klaus Frings, died from injuries suffered when a cobblestone struck him in the face during a Munich clash.

Fring's death brought a silent march of protest in Munich yesterday by about 1,000 students who carried banners attacking both the SDS and the rightwing National Democratic Party (NPD) for the violence.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Viet Toll: 363

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. military spokesmen said today 363 Americans were killed in action last week. The toll was the highest since the week ending March 9.

In addition, spokesmen said, 2,694 Americans were wounded, with more than half the men requiring hospitalization. Thirteen other U.S. servicemen were reported missing in action during the week which ended April 13.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said 293 government troops were killed and 985 wounded during the same period. Another 32 were reported missing.

The allies said that Communist losses during the week rose by more than 800, with 3,071 soldiers killed in combat. That figure was also the highest since the March 9 report.

Mutiny In Army

LONDON (UPI) — Mutinous sergeants revolted today against senior military officers who seized power 13 months ago in the steamy west African nation of Sierra Leone, diplomatic reports said today.

The reports reaching London said the mutiny in the nation's tiny army, which has ruled the country since a group of officers overthrew civilian rule there in March, 1967, broke out early today under the leadership of noncommissioned officers.

Latest reports said the mutiny started in Daru barracks in Sierra Leone's capital of Freetown and violence was spreading through the city.

Wilson Snubbed?

LONDON (UPI) — Aides today said Prime Minister Harold Wilson came home early to do some work. But his hosts at a naval airfield said Wilson returned to London because hundreds of sailors snubbed him.

About 600 officers and men had been invited to share cocktails with Wilson yesterday at the Naval Air Station at Culdrose in Cornwall. Only 48 agreed to show up.

Someone even ran his fingers through the decorative icing of two cakes Wilson was to cut as part of the field's 21st anniversary celebration.

Boot Scientists

WARSAW (UPI) — The Polish Communist Party has expelled two nuclear scientists from its ranks, the party newspaper Trybuna Ludu reported today.

The expulsions were the latest in a series that have followed last month's student unrest.

The scientists were identified as Prof. Juliusz Dorbowolski and Krysztof Zarnowiecki.

Sixth Death

RALEIGH (UPI) — Central Prison authorities said today a sixth prisoner has died of wounds suffered in yesterday's uprising, which guards put down with shotguns. Another 77 were injured. The victim was identified as John M. Scurlock, 22, a Pittsboro Negro. Two other Negroes and three whites were killed.

While an enforced peace was restored in Central Prison, 13 inmates at Odom Prison near Jackson staged a riot in a cellblock last night. Guards used tear gas to break up the disturbance.

Johnson Pledges South Korean Voice In Any Viet Peace Talks

MARCH AFB (UPI)—President Johnson returned to the U.S. mainland from Hawaii today after pledging to Park Chung-Hee that South Korea would have a voice in any Vietnam peace negotiations.

Johnson also recommitted the United States to honoring its commitments to defend South Korea against Communist aggression.

The President stopped over for several hours at this base, near Riverside, for a meeting with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower before going on to his Texas ranch for the weekend.

Johnson issued a joint communique with Park, South Korea's president, shortly before leaving Honolulu after an all-day meeting yesterday in which he pledged to give the Asian nation a voice in Vietnam peace negotiations and to continue to honor U.S. commitments in Korea.

The meeting was primarily held to reassure Park that the United States had no intention of abandoning South Korea in its search for an end to the war in Vietnam.

Johnson gave Park a four-point assurance that if there is any negotiation for settlement in Vietnam, South Korea will have a full voice in the proceedings.

This indicated that for his part, Park assured Johnson of continued military aid in the war. South Korea, with 50,000 troops, is the largest U.S. military ally in Vietnam. Park had threatened to pull these troops out of Vietnam if the United States did not grant him assurances it would again come to his country's defense in the face of aggression.

In addition, the president reaffirmed the Manila communique of 1966 and the position taken at the Seven Nation Ministers Meeting of 1967. At the foreign ministers meeting, the seven nations agreed that in addition to giving South Vietnam a voice in any settlement process, all fighting allies in Vietnam should participate in any peace talks. The communique went as far as the President could now go in assuring Park a voice in Vietnam.

On the issue of possible renewed Communist aggression in South Korea, Johnson also went as far as existing treaties would permit in reassuring Park continued U.S. support.

The two presidents, in the communique, said they had reviewed in detail the "serious threat to the security of the Republic of Korea and to peace in East Asia resulting from the increasingly belligerent actions of North Korean and the seizure of the USS Pueblo.

Kennedy For Big TV Debate; McCarthy To Rusk: Resign

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, campaigning in Indiana, says he wants to debate Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, his rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, and also wants Secretary of State Dean Rusk to resign because of his association with the Vietnam war.

Kennedy responded to the McCarthy debate challenge by saying the Minnesotan "isn't the only candidate" and that he is willing to debate all other White House contenders together, including Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who is expected to be a candidate.

There was no comment from the Johnson administration regarding McCarthy's demand that Rusk leave.

The State Poll in California reported New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would carry California if the presidential election were held today.

The poll, published by The Los Angeles Times, said he would get 53 per cent of the vote to 38 for President Johnson if the chief executive—who says he won't seek re-election—were the Democratic nominee. The poll gave these other percentages: Rockefeller, 57, Kennedy, 36; Rockefeller 62, Humphrey 30; Rockefeller 53, McCarthy, 38.

Democrats outnumber Republicans 5 to 4 in California.

The poll also said both McCarthy and Johnson could defeat former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the only announced major GOP candidate, if the election were held today.

McCarthy told an interviewer in Indianapolis he would be satisfied if Johnson replaced Rusk with almost anyone, even someone in the administration who has had a hand in Vietnam war policy—a policy he opposes.

McCarthy is campaigning in Indiana today following a stint in Pittsburgh where he accelerated criticism of the way the Johnson administration is handling peace probes with North Vietnam.

Kennedy, who was in Oregon, also assailed U.S. foreign policy, saying it is based on an obsession with power which is costing this country respect abroad.

Kennedy and McCarthy clash in Indiana's May 7 primary.

Meanwhile today, Iowa Republicans filled out a state delegation to the national convention that appeared to favor Nixon by a slight margin. Technically, all 24 delegates were uncommitted, but 13 indicated they lean toward Nixon. Ten said they were uncommitted, and one — U.S. Rep. H. R. Gross — said he favors California Gov. Ronald Reagan. It was considered significant that despite the fact Nixon is the only major announced GOP candidate, he got only a bare majority of favorable delegates.

$1 Million Fire Hits Cannery

STOCKTON (AP)—Damage is estimated at $1 million in a fire which destroyed two buildings and severely damaged eight others at the Del Monte Cannery in East Stockton yesterday.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke in battling the blaze. Fire Chief Mitchell Coolures made the loss estimate.

Only a maintenance crew was on hand at the cannery, since it does not go into operation until the tomato harvest later in the season. Cause of the fire was not immediately known.

Yugoslav Temblor

BELGRADE (UPI)—A strong earthquake shook the south Yugoslav town of Debar early today, and panicked citizens fled their homes for the open streets. No casualties were reported.

SKIERS FIND STOLEN AUTO

Two champion water skiers look over a car which they found yesterday submerged in the man-made lagoon in the Bahai subdivision of Novato. Flores of 149 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael, according to Novato police. It came to light when the water skiers' boat bumped into it.

Music School In Art Palace?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto, an amateur violinist, says he wants to turn the rebuilt Palace of Fine Arts into a major conservatory of music.

Alioto said yesterday negotiations were under way to merge the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and "one of our leading colleges" to create the institution. He wouldn't say which college.

"This is not just a theory or hope," he said. "It's a practical matter with negotiations actually going on."

If plans work out, he said, the new conservatory would be second only to New York City's Julliard School of Music.

Admiral Charges N. Korea For Seven Ambush Deaths

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) —An American admiral accused North Korea in an icy confrontation today of committing vicious and savage acts by staging ambushes that left seven allied soldiers dead during the past five days.

Stony-faced Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-Kuk, a North Korean known as "Frog Face" to the Americans, absorbed the browbeating with his usual lack of emotion at a meeting at this Korean truce village.

Navy Rear Adm. John V. Smith made the accusations. He is senior United Nations Command delegate to the Korean Military Armistice Commission.

Toward the end of a seven-hour session the Communists threatened to walk out, but they did not. Pak warned Smith against "hurling unilateral invectives" at the Communist side. He said North Korea had nothing to do with the ambushes.

Smith, son of the late Gen. Holland M. (Howling Mad) Smith, the World War II Marine Corps commander, charged the North Koreans with being "butchers." Facing Pak across a table, he protested an Easter Sunday ambush that took the lives of two American and two South Korean soldiers only 1,000 yards from Panmunjom, the village where the Korean war armistice was arranged 15 years ago.

Yesterday three more South Korean soldiers died when bushwacked as they patroled about 330 yards south of the demarcation line that separates the two Koreas. The attack occurred in the central sector.

Daley Softens Chicago Riot Shoot Order; More Reaction

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mayor Richard J. Daley, center of a national controversy over how to handle urban rioters, yesterday redefined his stand but left in effect his orders to police to shoot looters and arsonists on sight.

Daley went before the city council and read a carefully worded prepared statement in which he called for protection of people and property by police using whatever force was necessary. He did not use the words "shoot to kill" in regard to arsonists or "shoot to maim or cripple" in regard to looters, as he had on Monday.

His statement came as he asked for a resolution urging that on Law Day U.S.A., May 1, citizens "reaffirm our faith in the rule of law and in the supremacy of government by law rather than by men."

The resolution passed the council and Daley was applauded after he couched in softer language his "get tough" order to police.

In his statement Daley said: "men poised with Molotov cocktails, incendaries or firebombs of any kind are the same as the assassins who pulled the triggers on the guns that killed the Rev. Martin Luther King and the late President John F. Kennedy."

Miami Police Chief Walter B. Headley said he agreed with the shoot-on-sight theory of handling arsonists and looters during a riot.

A top aide of the assassinated King, Rev. Jesse Jackson, said Daley had revealed himself as "an arsonist burning up the future of blacks."

Noted criminal Attorney F. Lee Bailey said last night in Charleston, Ill., that "rioters and looters should be given an hour's warning to get off the streets or face machine gunning until every last one of them are dead."

Ancient Mine

JOHHANNESBURG (AP) — A 28,000-year-old iron mine containing some 23,000 stone tools has been discovered in Swaziland, says a report by two University of Witwatersand professors in the latest issue of Nature magazine. Carbon dating techniques confirmed the mine's age, they said.

Ex-Deputy Arrested On Charge Of Attack

A 26-year-old Marin City man who once served briefly as a Marin County deputy sheriff was arrested on charges of rape and burglary today in the county courthouse.

Foster Nolan Hines of 49 Cole Drive was arrested on charges that he broke into the apartment of a 29-year-old Sausalito woman April 11 and raped her.

Hines, who was a deputy sheriff from April 22 to Oct. 10, 1966, was arrested as he conferred with a district attorney's investigator on support payments he has been ordered to make to his ex-wife.

The woman was in the Two Turtles Bar with friends the night of April 10, when Hines came in and joined the party.

The victim told police that she went to bed as soon as she arrived home and was awakened a half hour later, at 2:30 a.m., to the sound of her door rattling.

Hines slipped the lock on the door, walked to the bed and began choking her.

The woman, who works for a San Francisco office equipment firm, said she recognized Hines immediately and tried to talk him out of the assault.

Hines was held in jail today in lieu of $6,250 bail. He was to appear in Municipal Court this afternoon. He resigned from the sheriff's force after six months of service.

PEACE

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned that the U.S. willingness to talk did not arise from weakness. He cautioned Hanoi "not to lose this opportunity" to negotiate.

In Rawalpindi, Kosygin spoke at a banquet in his honor during a state visit to Pakistan. He said the Soviet Union supported Hanoi's proposals on the talks and "considers the United States should accept this offer and immediately enter into talks."

He also backed the North Vietnamese insistence that a complete cessation of U.S. bombing and "all other acts of war" against the north were a necessary requirement for a political settlement to the Vietnam War.

Rusk spoke informally and with considerable feeling on the situation at the meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington. He warned the United States would not accept a "fake solution" and would not abandon its world responsibilities.

London diplomatic sources said Communist China was exerting pressure on North Vietnam to fight "to the end." They said Hanoi was resisting Peking's pressure so far but there were indications North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh had to overcome resistance from Hanoi hardliners before he could respond to U. S. offers to talk.

Marines at Khe Sanh said more than 240 rockets, mortars and artillery shells hit their positions in the 24 hours that ended this morning at dawn. Elsewhere below the DMZ, U.S. forces battled small Red units.

American warplanes yesterday ranged to within 10 miles of the 19th parallel in striking North Vietnam's Southern Panhandle supply lines. The spokesmen said most of their 118 missions hit storage areas, gun positions and troop concentrations close to the South Vietnam border.

In Saigon, the curfew imposed during the Communist lunar new year offensive has been pushed back by an hour because conditions have nearly returned to normal, Saigon Radio said today.

Charge Of Auto Theft Dropped

Paul Wing Wong, 19, of Larkspur, was freed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday after Judge Hadden W. Roth found there was insufficient evidence to hold him on a charge of car theft.

Wong and Carter Paul Yuen, 18, of San Francisco, were arrested March 6 when Sausalito police stopped them in a Volkswagen reported stolen in San Rafael.

Judge Roth continued the charge against Yuen until Wednesday for a decision on whether he will be held to answer on the car theft charge.

Held To Answer In Burglary Case

Richard Lawrence Holstrom, 21, of Illinois, was held to answer on a charge of burglary after a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

He is to appear in Superior Court April 29 for arraignment on a charge that he and two other men burgled the house of William Granning and Gladys Fleming at 246 Bayview Avenue, Belvedere, Aug. 15.

Judge Hadden W. Roth yesterday issued a $5,000 bench warrant for Joaquin R. Martinez, 23, of San Francisco, who failed to appear for the preliminary hearing on the charge.

He continued the case of Allan H. Ludviksen, 23, of San Francisco, also accused of the burglary, until April 24 for preliminary hearing.

3-Month-Old Fairfax Baby Dies In Crib

A 3-month-old Fairfax baby died in its crib last night apparently from natural causes, according to Marin County Coroner Donovan O. Cooke. An autopsy report is pending.

Christine Michelle Schlee, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Schlee of 300 Olema Road, Fairfax, was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 11:01 p.m.

Cooke said the child had been ill with a cold several days before and her parents had taken her to a local hospital on Sunday to be checked. However, the baby had seemed well and happy since then, Cooke said in his report.

Her parents took her with them to visit Schlee's brother, Darrell K. Schlee of 173 Bothin Road, Fairfax, where she was put to bed at 7:30 p.m. She was checked several times during the evening and seemed to be fine, Cooke said.

When Mrs. Schlee looked in on the baby at 10:30 p.m. she was not breathing, Cooke said. Attempts by the Fairfax Fire Department to revive the child were unsuccessful.

Almonte Party Slated June 8

An Almonte community party will be held June 8, with preliminary plans calling for refreshments of bread, cheese and wine, plus reports from planners and others on Almonte's future plans and development.

The Almonte Improvement Club last night set the party for 8 p.m. June 8 at Almonte Hall.

The club also discussed Mill Valley's yacht harbor plans and proposals for annexations in the harbor area, and the Brown and Caldwell report on Southern Marin sewage needs.

Mill Valley Parents Quiz Grades Trial

Mill Valley parents aired complaints and fired questions about the Mill Valley School District's new system of pupil progress reporting at a session last night of the district's Reporting to Parents Committee.

Most frequent request from the audience of 70 was for a more frequent breakdown of problem areas shown in the reports. This was coupled with concern over too much generalizing in substituting written reports for letter grades.

The committee, comprising four parents and four teachers, was meeting to learn parents' responses. It presented no arguments or solutions to the problems raised.

Co-chairman James Martin said this year's reporting system is an experimental one. Asked what happens if the experiment fails, he pointed out the experiment is one in reporting, not an experiment with the pupil or his learning. Evidence indicates that old reporting methods have also been failures, he said.

Martin also said the committee members have several viewpoints on the reporting problem, and no commitment to a single answer.

Some parents said teacher-parent conferecnes are an effective way to keep track of their children's progress, but others complained that when a pupil has several teachers it is difficult for the parent to arrange conferences with all of them to keep in touch.

Martin said pupils can be given a letter grade in addition to the written reports, if the parent asks for it.

The committee will schedule several meetings to gather and correlate information on reporting systems throughout the state and beyond before reporting to the district administration.

The basic goal, Martin said, is to try to meet the parents' needs in progress reports, and at the same time support professional decisions on how a teacher will teach.

Woman Reported In Fair Shape

A 29-year-old Terra Linda woman was in fair condition in Marin General Hospital today after quick-thinking sheriff's officers saved her from death by overdose of sleeping pills.

Deputies were called to the house of Jeanne Washburn Barney at 876 Las Ovejas Avenue, Terra Linda, last night, when her mother in Sierra Madre reported the daughter called and said she was taking the pills.

Deputies awakened the daughter's husband, Walter Barney, who reported his wife was asleep in her bedroom. The bedroom was empty, but deputies discovered a telephone cord leading to the locked bathroom.

ERIC STARVO GALT
Police artist "opened" his eyes (right)

have the eyes "opened" by an artist—brought uncertain responses from witnesses who were acquainted with Galt or saw the fleeing sniper.

"Unless he was wearing a wig or had had a face lift or something, it's not the man I saw," said Charles Q. Stevens, who lives at the Main Street rooming house from which the fatal shot apparently was fired.

"The hair is too full and the face is too young," he said. But Stevens said he only got a side view of the fleeing figure.

A source in Birmingham said the photograph was taken within the past three months, although the FBI did not specify when it was made.

The FBI, relying on witnesses apparently, said the fugitive had been described as a white man, 5-8 to 5-11, weighing 160 to 175 pounds, with brown hair in a brush cut, blue eyes, straight nose.

The FBI statement also said, "The fugitive is said to have a nervous habit of occasionally pulling at an ear lobe with his left hand. His left ear protrudes further from his head than his right ear."

"Galt should be considered armed and dangerous," the FBI release warned.

Galt has used the names of John Willard and Harvey Lowmeyer, the FBI said. The assassin registered at the Memphis rooming house under the name of John Willard.

Details of the alleged conspiracy were missing from the FBI release, as were vital statistics, such as Galt's birthplace, formal schooling, employment. The statement said Galt claimed to have been a cook on Mississippi riverboats, a merchant seaman and "is said to be an avid dancer."

Galt, the FBI said, is the owner of a 1966 white Mustang with Alabama license plates abandoned in Atlanta the day after King was shot to death. The vehicle was left in the parking lot of an apartment project near the Georgia Capitol.

Bad Check Case To Higher Court

Joe and Bonita Henderson of Long Beach were held to answer on a charge that they cashed a $145 bad check at Hanna Leather Co. in Sausalito July 4 after a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

The two were ordered to appear for arraignment April 29 in Superior Court.

Carnival Site Held Too Busy

No alternate site to the original has been found for the Western Weekend carnival grounds, according to Police Chief Robert Di Grazia, member of the Novato Traffic Safety Committee.

The Western Weekend board had selected the site just south of Lee Brothers Market on Seventh Street at Novato Boulevard, for the carnival.

The Traffic Safety Committee feels that this will make too much congestion in the area and would like to find another site, Di Grazia said.

San Anselmo Woman Drowns On River Hike

Mrs. Nellie Pierce of San Anselmo drowned Monday in the New River not far from the summer cabin she and her husband, Charles L. Pierce, own in a primitive section of Trinity County.

The couple formerly owned and operated the Pierce Van and Storage Co. in San Rafael.

Trinity County Coroner George Files reported yesterday that Mrs. Pierce, 75, appeared to have slipped and fallen into the river and was unable to get out. She was fully clothed and both apron and coat pockets, he said, were filled with rocks she loved to collect from beaches of the fast and rough river.

Her body was found Tuesday by a search party using dogs about 100 yards downriver from the Pierce cabin.

Mrs. Pierce's husband told the sheriff that his wife left the cabin at 1:30 p.m. Monday to take her daily walk along the river.

He then went into Denny, a small settlement some three miles away, he said, to get the mail. When he returned at 5 p.m., Mrs. Pierce had still not returned from her walk.

Pierce returned to Denny to get help in search for his wife. A U.S. Forest Service ranger and a Denny shopkeeper searched for the elderly woman until 10:30 p.m. when they notified the sheriff. The search resumed at 6 a.m. the next day.

Files said the Pierces were frequent visitors to Trinity County where they came to mine gold and collect rocks. They had been at their cabin approximately three weeks on this current trip, he said.

A native of California, Mrs. Pierce was a longtime Marin County resident. The Pierces have lived at 69 Magnolia Avenue in San Anselmo many years.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Stanley Marier of San Anselmo and Elbert Marier of Bakersfield; three brothers, Roy Maag of Manhattan Beach, Reginald Maag of Los Angeles and Donald Maag of Ukiapa; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Interment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Marin Tax Delinquency Rate Drops

Marin County taxpayers paid a total of $48,963,577 in property taxes for this year, out of a total charge of $52,096,302, County Tax Collector-Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez announced today.

This leaves $3,132,725 still to be paid, a delinquency of 6.014 per cent. "The delinquency is lower than last year's 7.5 per cent and the lowest in the last five years," said Fontez.

Deadline for tax payments was last Wednesday. All payments that came through the mail have been processed.

A penalty of 6 per cent plus $3 per parcel will be imposed on late payments that are made between now and June 30. After June 30, another $1.50 per parcel and one per cent per month will be assessed.

Since the assessment protest hearings are still going on, some changes will still be made for some of the property owners. If the assessments are lowered by the assessment appeals board, a tax refund will be made. Those whose assessments are raised will have 30 days after the appeals board action in which to pay the added taxes without penalty.

Henry C. Hankins of Point Reyes, Marin County civic leader, has been named West Marin chairman of Louis H. "Bud" Baar's campaign for supervisor from the Fourth District. He is a former member of the Marin County Planning Commission and past president of the West Marin Lions Club.

Personnel Commission Wrestles Definitions

Marin County Personnel Commissioners yesterday tried to define "managerial employees" as opposed to rank and file county employees but struck a dead end.

After two-and-one-half hours of debate, the commissioners voted 3-1 to toss out the present definition of "managerial employees" and to substitute this broad language: "It will be the duty of the personnel commission to determine whether persons are managerial employees."

Commissioners Bella Aaron, Muriel Appenzeller and Hugh Marchant voted for the change. Commissioner Victor P. Reed objected, holding that some guideline is needed. Chairman Margaret Lucas was absent.

TOO MUCH CUT

When the section on "managerial employees" was tossed out, however, the commissioners discovered they had tossed out too much. They voted to re-insert language saying that employees "with a confidential relationship to the board of supervisors, county administrator, or personnel director" would definitely come under the managerial category.

The issue arose over an application by the Public Social Service Workers Local 535 for certification as a bargaining unit. The local wants to include supervisors in the Department of Public Social Services in the unit. Last month, the personnel commission ruled that supervisors should not be in the same bargaining unit because they are "managerial."

Frederick H. Ward, manager of the Marin County Employees Association, and several union representatives all argued otherwise. Union representatives were Richard Liebes, Randall Serrurier, and James Crandall.

Deletion of the "managerial employees" definition did not clear up the question; it will have to be taken up again by the personnel commission.

APPEALS ISSUE

The commission also deadended on another issue — the appeal procedure. Under present policy, a bargaining unit may appeal to the board of supervisors only if its request for certification is "dismissed." Since Local 535's request was not "dismissed" but accepted with modification — excluding supervisors — the present rules do not permit an appeal by the local.

Ward and Serrurier argued that the right of appeal should be extended and not limited to "dismissal" alone.

Commissioner Reed objected that giving bargaining unit the unrestricted right to appeal personnel commission decisions, "Becomes an exercise in futility."

"Any disagreement will automatically go up to the supervisors, so why waste time hearing it here," he said.

On a motion by Marchant, the commissioners recommended against the change.

At 6:05 p.m., the commissioners decided to meet in special session at 8 p.m. next Monday to complete yesterday's agenda.

Fair/Marin Pact Session Slated

Fair/Marin Board of Directors will meet April 25 to begin drafting a contract under which Fair/Marin will operate the memorial auditorium and fairgrounds site.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Room 343 at the Civic Center.

Chairman Fred F. Enemark said that San Rafael attorney Leland H. Jordan will attend the meeting to help draft the contract.

Hub House Damaged By $800 Fire

Flames gutted a thrid story bedroom of a 70-year-old San Anselmo home about 11:30 p.m. yesterday, firemen reported today.

They said cause of the blaze, at the home of Norbert M. Murray Jr., 274 Oak Avenue, was believed to have been a cigarrette left on a table. No one was injured and damage was estimated at $800.

Mrs. Murray said today she was awakened when she heard a window break from heat of the fire. She said her daughter, Pamela, 15, called the fire department while she connected garden hoses and prevented the blaze from spreading from the bedroom.

Mrs. Murray said her son, William, 19, and two friends had been in the bedroom earlier, but William was away at time of the fire. Firemen said a paper mask on the table apparently ignited and the blaze spread to walls, curtains, and the attic of the frame house before they were extinguished.

Brighter Radar Due

Congressmen See Redwoods

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — A House subcommittee on parks continued its hearing on the Redwood national park controversy today at a session in Eureka High School.

The Congressmen, led by Chairman Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., informally toured the redwood forests in Del Norte and Humboldt Counties yesterday, then were guests of honor at a Eureka Chamber of Commerce banquet.

The subcommittee opened its hearings Tuesday at Crescent City and received a suggestion that a five-man arbitration commission be set up to settle the matter.

Span Traffic Up

A total of 406,839 vehicles crossed the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge during February, the Division of Bay Toll Crossings reported today, for a 9.96 per cent increase over the total in February, 1967. Part of the increase was because this is a leap year, with one extra day in the month, the division noted.

1,000 Bridge Players Due In Tourney

Marin Airport Nearly Full; 63 Planes Using Parking

Sixty-three private aircraft are now tied down at the new Marin County Airport north of Novato, airport manager Francis E. Torr reported last night to the Marin Aviation Commission at a meeting in the Civic Center.

"With a couple of spots reserved for transient use and the rest for the two fixed base operators (Navair and Marin Aviation), we're just about saturated," said Torr. Temporary electrictiy and telephones are in use, and water pipes are now being installed, he reported.

The Marin Aviation Commission also:

PUBLIC RELATIONS — Appointed Commissioners Ray Foreaker and Richard Nave, and Alan Thayer of San Rafael to help Torr plan better public relations through the use of press releases and literature to explain and describe facilities at the airport.

PROCEDURE — Decided that hereafter, the commission will formally request the Marin County Board of Supervisors to assign aviation matters that require county staff help to the proper county department. For example, said Torr, the county planning department could have provided valuable help in drawing up the tentative airport master plan.

IMPROVEMENTS — Asked Torr to investigate various safety devices such as a wind indicator, and possibility of control tower installation by the Federal Aviation Agency.

Fred Perry makes a few points about tennis clothes
by Peerless

Tennis clothes should be cotton, for lightness and absorbency. (Fred Perry's are 100% English cotton, mesh knit shirt, twill shorts.) That's 15 for our side. The shorts should give you freedom to move. (Fred Perry's have vented sides, pleated front, no-roll waist.) That's 30. The shirt should stay tucked when you serve. (Fred Perry's is extra long and shrink resistant.) That's 40. The outfit should look sharp and feel good. (With Fred Perry, that's assured.) And that's game!

HIPPIES' CHILDHOOD BLAMED FOR TROUBLE

Special to the I-J

SAN FRANCISCO — "Today's hippies did not have a feeling of emotional security while growing up, despite material comforts," believes psychiatrist Dr. Alfred Auerback of University of California Medical Center.

Dr. Auerback believes their sexual activity and use of drugs are frantic efforts to find themselves. "Because the rebellious teen-ager is not going to find any more happiness as a hippie than he's found elsewhere, the movement is destined to disappear in the foreseeable future.

"Then the word 'hippie' will become as archaic as the word 'beatnik'—which represented a similar rebellion a few years ago."

Bay Historical Site Hearing Tomorrow

Mayors of several cities and several civic and government leaders are scheduled to testify on bills to estiblish three Bay Area historical sites at a hearing on tomorrow at the Presidio of San Francisco.

The three bills, introduced by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, would establish Fort Point, under the south end of Golden Gate Bridge, as a national historic site, authorize a Skyline National Parkway in San Mateo County, and establish a San Francisco Bay site at Sweeney Ridge in San Mateo County.

The hearing, to begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club in the Presidio, is a meeting of the U.S. Senate Sub-Committee on Parks and Recreation. Senator Kuchel and Senator Alan Bible of Nevada will preside.

Seantor Kuchel reported one witness, Robert Power, owner of the Nut Tree restaurant, is expected to suggest a "controversial amendment." Power will contend that Sir Francis Drake should be acknowledged as equal in historical stature as a discoverer of San Francisco Bay, along with Don Gaspas de Portola.

Hall Of Justice Yielding Slowly To Wrecking Ball

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A building known to millions of television viewers is yielding stubbornly to the wrecker's ball in San Francisco.

It's the stone-and-brick police Hall of Justice, a 1902 structure prominent in the onetime "Line-up" program on television. It's still the supposed living quarters of the crippled police inspector, "Ironsides," on the TV program of the same name, starring Raymond Burr.

"The wreckers are having a tough time because that fine old edifice was built to last," said Sgt. Frank Jordan at Chief Thomas Cahill's new headquarters.

The hall hasn't been occupied, except fancifully on TV, since 1960. The Kearney Street structure will be replaced by a Chinese cultural center.

Mrs. Pendleton Granted Divorce

Charles F. Pendleton, former Corte Madera town councilman, has been divorced in Marin Superior Court by his wife of 21 years, Virginia.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson granted the divorce to Mrs. Pendleton and gave her custody of their two children and possession of the family home.

MOTHER'S NEW CAREER

She Stars As Nursing Student Despite 15-Year College Hiatus

By MARY LEYDECKER

A petite San Anselmo mother of six children, who looks scarcely older than her teen-aged daughter, has been named student nurse of the year for California.

Mrs. Anne Kilty of 60 Essex Avenue, who will graduate from the College of Marin's nursing program in June, was chosen at a state convention of student nurses in San Diego to receive this honor for her scholarship and community activities.

Although she professes to have been worried about entering college after 15 years as a housewife, she has maintained a 3.7 average.

Having quit nurse's training at St. Joseph's Hospital in San Francisco to marry a classmate, Mrs. Kilty said she "yearned to become a nurse" the years she was staying home with her children. "I had been badly bitten by the nursing bug," she added.

She said she especially continued to think about a nursing career because her husband, James, is in this field.

Kilty, who holds B.A. and M.A. degrees as well as his R.N. degree, teaches at the University' of California's nursing school in San Francisco.

"I never would have been able to go back to school," Mrs. Kilty said, "If it hadn't been for the new two-year program at College of Marin."

This program, which offers an R. N. degree at the end of two years, has allowed Mrs. Kilty to continue to live at home and care for her family while completing her schooling.

The children have been helpful, Mrs. Kilty said, and her oldest girl, Karen, taught her how to do logarithms last year so she could do the work in a biology class.

Karen is now 14, and the other youngsters, are Eileen 12, Maureen, 11; Clare, 10, John, 7, and Jim, 4. All attend St. Anselm's School, except Jim, who will start kindergarten in the fall.

Even during the two years Mrs. Kilty has been a student she has found time to work with the parent-teacher group at the school as well as teach classes for engaged couples at St. Anselm's Church.

Her trip to the recent state convention was financed by her class, which held such money-raising events as bake and rummage sales. She and 12 other classmates attended the sessions.

The Kiltys live in a big old house on the top of a hill in San Anselmo, and the housekeeping is "relaxed," according to Mrs. Kilty.

Plans to "loaf" for the summer have been made by Mrs. Kilty, who will graduate in June. The children are going to take her to Disneyland for a graduation present and then she plans to catch up with projects which she hasn't had time for in the last two years.

"I don't think I'll take a full-time nursing job until Jim is in first grade," Mrs. Kilty said. Instead, she hopes to do volunteer work, perhaps assisting the public health nurse at St. Anselm's School or as Pink Lady at Marin General Hospital.

"Eventually I want to work in a hospital," Mrs. Kilty said. "This is really what my training aims for and is my first love."

Rafferty Is For Shooting At Looters

LONG BEACH (UPI) — U.S. Senate candidate Max Rafferty said yesterday looters should be shot when caught during riots.

He later added that he didn't mean all of them.

"Police shouldn't shoot at looters unless they are caught in the act, are told to stop, and don't," Rafferty said in an address to the Long Beach Rotary Club.

"Then of course you shoot them. What else can you do? How else are you going to stop them?"

Earlier at a news conference the state superintendent of public instruction said police should shoot looters caught red handed, adding "that the traditional way since our Western Civilization began."

Rafferty, who seeks the Republican Party's senatorial nomination at the June 4 primary election, repeated his earlier demand for a special federal force to deal with future riots.

He said it should be part of the armed forces, but not responsible to the President or any other individual.

Jordan Reports Border Clashes

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A Jordanian military spokesman today reported two more border clashes with Israel and said this brought the total to 21 since the start of February.

The spokesman said Israeli troops opened up with machine guns last night on Jordanian positions near Al Majami Bridge, 10 miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

"Our forces returned fire, which lasted for 55 minutes," he said. "We had no casualties. Israeli casualties are not known."

An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv charged that the Jordanians began the exchange and said there were no Israeli casualties.

Marin County, Cities Get Split Of Vehicle Fees

Marin County received $639,045 as its share of state-collected "in lieu" vehicle license fees, and the cities of Marin received a total of $567,643.

The distribution of $127,482,400 to the state's cities and counties represents 75 per cent of the vehicle license fees which the state expects to receive during the six month period ending May 31. The balance of the actual amounts for the period will be paid in June.

Because the fees take the place of a local property tax on vehicles, the cities and counties may use their share for general purposes.

Orchid Show Set

The Marin Orchid Society will hold its annual spring orchid show Friday and Saturday at The Emporium, Northgate. The show will be held, as usual, in the escalator enclave during store hours.

Rockefeller Says U.S. Faces 'Life In Jungle'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller warned today Americans face "a life of the jungle" unless a national commitment is made to deal with the crisis of the cities.

Rockefeller, in a prepared speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said the American people must choose "right now" between new division or new dedication.

"We can choose a life of the jungle —or a life of justice," Rockefeller said. "We cannot have both. We cannot live for long with parts and pieces of both.

"We cannot fight our way through this trial with the arsenal of violence and revenge," he said. "We cannot meet this test with promises or programs conceived narrowly or separately for the black community or the white community.

"The time of wounding —and of hate —must pass. The time for healing —and for hope —has come," he said.

"Diffusing our purposes and scattering our resources—without priority and without precision—we have come to seem too often a nation desperately trying at almost everything, totally triumphing at very little," he said.

"We have become an incongruous society—at deep odds with itself. We somehow have contrived to be, at one and the same time, the affluent society and the afflicted society."

The New York Governor said the root domestic problem was "the crisis of the American city," a problem that cannot be solved by escape to the country or suburb or by "endless deficit financing."

Rockefeller, characterizing as "fiscal negligence" the current projected budget deficit of some $20 billion, said "the first imperative is fiscal integrity."

He said states and cities must raise their annual revenues by $10 billion, most of it at the state level since cities are already taxing at their limit, and the federal government must match this with a $10 billion annual increase in its own aid directly to states and cities.

In line with a theme widely used by GOP congressional candidates in 1966, Rockefeller called for federal aid to be dispensed in unrestricted "block grants" directly to the cities and states.

GOP Leaders Urge Rocky To Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty-three leading Republicans, including Michigan Gov. George Romney, agreed generally today that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller should formally declare his presidential candidacy "very soon."

A spokesman for Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who called the breakfast meeting, said the concensus of the discussion was that Rockefeller should be urged by all to move fast.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., a leader in the drive to get Rockefeller into the race, said the meeting produced "gratifying" reports of nationwide backing for the New York Governor.

"I have talked to him and I'm convinced Nelson is in the mood to go right now," Morton said.

Romney, it was learned, joined in the consensus that Rockefeller should make it clear quickly he will be a committed, aggressive candidate. Morton said the presidential candidacy of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., "has a lot of people in the business and political community very much worried."

Marinwood District To Buy 16 Radio Sets For Firemen

The Marinwood Community Services District will purchase 16 radio receiver sets for volunteer firemen at a cost of $2,231.

District directors last night decided to buy the sets from Dunnigan Fire Equipment Co. of Sebastopol at that price. The Dunnigan offer was lowest of four bids, which ranged to a high of $3,137.

Marinwood CSD directors also:

DIRECTORS — Passed a resolution asking the Marin County Board of Supervisors to appoint the following three men to three vacancies on the CSD board — Charles H. Roach of 613 Idylberry Road, Frank Solomon Jr. of 757 Appleberry Drive, and Jack G. Nixon of 1009 Idylberry Road.

TAX INCREASE — Endorsed a proposed raise in the district tax rate from $1 to $1.35, a proposal that will be on the June 4 ballot.

NEW TRUCK — Approved an outlay of $1,555 to replace a 1953 maintenance truck with a 1965 pickup truck.

WEED ABATEMENT — Set 8 p.m. May 15 as the time for hearing to determine the fair cost of abating weeds on the property of Kenneth Ginn on Opalstone Drive. Genevieve Bolding, business manager-secretary said the district incurred $219 plus legal costs to cut back the weeds on the property.

Cash Stolen

A burglar entered the apartment of George A. Newton at 1827 Second Street between Sunday and yesterday and stole $60 in cash and miscellaneous personal items, police were told.

Warehouse Plan Approved, House Variance Denied

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments last night approved the application of Peter Hunt of Gate 5, Sausalito, for permission to build a new warehouse and light manufacturing plant at 195 Tamal Vista Boulevard.

It denied the application of Roland Johnson, 69 Manderly Way, San Rafael, to build a two-story house at 168 Lakeside Drive. The house would have had a garage beneath it and has insufficient side yard.

Request of Shell Oil Co. of Millbrae for permission to build a canopy over gas pump islands at 516 Tamalpais Drive was approved, as was an application by the post office to build a new structure at 7 Pixley Avenue.

The application of Milton S. Cohen for permission to convert an existing garage to living area at his home, 266 Sausalito Street, was continued until the 7:30 p.m. meeting on May 15 at Town Hall.

Stage Policy For Firehouse

Development of the firehouse site on Atherton Avenue will be done in stages, the Novato Fire District board decided last night at a special meeting called to discuss site plans according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

Gromme and Priestley, San Rafael architects, had submitted a site plan for the area on Atherton Avenue near Olive Avenue.

The board last night discussed plans which call for a fire house, administrative offices, dormatories, equipment repair shops and drill tower.

The board decided to first construct the drill tower and pave around it, Cavallero said.

However, no final plans were approved and many more meetings will be held to discuss the development of the site, Cavallero added.

Robbery Target Shoots Up Plaza, Kills One, Vanishes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police hunted a gunman who in a Civic Center Plaza outburst yesterday evening killed one man and wounded two others.

The dead man was not immediately identified.

Police gave this account:

A caucasian man who had been sitting on a bench at Fulton and Larkin streets with four Indians became incensed at an attempt to strong-arm him. He went to get a gun, returned and cut loose.

One Indian lay dead with a bullet in his heart, a wine bottle under the bench from which he'd staggered.

A little later, Joe Desjarlais, 22, who had been on the bench, staggered to Central Emergency Hospital, in critical condition with a .25 caliber bullet in his chest.

In a Seventh Street bar, police found two other men they said were also on the bench.

One was Paul Costa, 24, of Oakland, who had been shot in both legs. The other, unscathed, was identified as Carrol Posh, 25, who was held on suspicion of robbery.

Museum Group Seeks Members

The Marin Museum Association, a visual arts organization which conducts art appreciation classes for children in 30 Marin County elementary schools, is seeking new members.

The association holds its meetings and sponsors exhibitions at the Civic Center. A show of prints from the Achenbach Collection, usually housed at the Palace of the Legion of Honor Museum, will be held April 21 to May 31.

A training course for instructors in the art appreciation program is currently being offered Wednesday mornings at the office of the county school superintendent in Corte Madera.

GOP Indicts Johnson's Military Policy As Prolonging Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In their first major statement on Vietnam since 1965, GOP leaders charged the Johnson Administration with military "gradualism" that has prolonged the war and increased the perils to peace.

The Republican leadership condemned this policy and what it termed a drastic change in "flexible response" strategy by the military. The results have been tragic for the United States, the GOP said.

The indictment of U.S. military policy was contained in a statement released yesterday but adopted by the Republican Coordinating Committee March 19, nearly two weeks before President Johnson's moves to negotiate peace in Vietnam.

It was the first major statement on Vietnam from the committee in more than two years and the first major paper to come from its new Task Force on National Security. Cochairmen of the task force are Thomas S. Gates Jr. and Neil H. McElroy, both defense secretaries during the Eisenhower Administration.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon, front-running candidate for the 1968 GOP Presidential nomination, are members of the coordinating committee, but they did not attend the March 19 meeting. Copies of the report had been sent to them for study and suggestions. The 36-member committee represents the Republican leadership in Congress, the governors, former presidents and presidential nominees, and other officials.

The committee said the nation stayed out of war during the Eisenhower years because it showed "an unmistakable determination to protect the vital interest of the United States anywhere in the world."

It said two military doctrines began to appear in 1961, the first year of John F. Kennedy's Presidency. One was described as a policy of gradualism. The other was changing the "flexible defense" strategy to mean "a deliberate policy of reaction which induces stalemate" instead of meeting a threat with the appropriate force to crush it.

The committee said the two doctrines "have fostered aggression, prolonged and escalated a war, undermined our alliances, divided the nation and stripped our reserves to the bone.

"As doctrines of response, not of initiative, they have created a worldwide crisis of confidence in United States deterrence. In place of peace, they have spawned the very evils they were conceived to banish —war and the escalation of war," the report said.

"Gradualism" is generally regarded as the administration's policy of a step-by-step increase in the U.S. troop buildup and the bombing campaign against North Vietnam, to tighten the pressure on Hanoi to move toward peace talks. The gradual intensification of the war also was seen as a way to avoid provoking Chinese intervention.

The committee called Vietnam the "laboratory for testing the gradualism experiment," and said the result had been a failure.

Mansfield Doubts Whether Cong A Red Organization

HONOLULU (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says it is "very questionable" whether the Viet Cong is a Communist organization.

He made the statement on a discussion program produced by the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and KHVH-TV, Honolulu.

Mansfield also indicated a deep division of opinion about Communist China may exist between President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Mansfield said President Johnson does not view the Vietnam war as a confrontation with Red China.

Asked if that position wasn't in conflict with recent testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in which Rusk conjured up the "specter" of a billion Chinese threatening Southeast Asia, Mansfield replied:

"I think he was ill-advised to say what he did. I don't think he thought through what he said."

Mansfield said the United States should withdraw from Vietnam as soon as is honorably possible because "we have no vital interest there and . . . it is not necessary to the security of the United States."

He added he regarded as invalid the theory that with U.S. forces gone the nations of Southeast Asia would topple like dominos.

"The war in Vietnam, allegations to the contrary, is a civil war because the Viet Cong are South Vietnamese," he said.

Mansfield was in Honolulu participating in the eighth annual Mexico-United States Interparliamentary Conference.

Curfew Lifted In Pittsburg Housing Project

PITTSBURG (AP) — The 180 families who live in the predominantly Negro El Pueblo housing proect near here passed a quiet night last night.

Drastic emergency measures were lifted in the afternoon after being imposed to prevent a recurrence of the sniping of Tuesday night when two officers and a resident were slightly wounded.

Trouble reportedly broke out when officers broke up a curbside dice game. Some 150 officers were rushed to the area and the Contra Costa County Disaster Office declared a state of emergency.

It mustered a newly authorized task force of deputies and declared a 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew.

There were a few sniper shots yesterday, but no one was hit.

Seminary Sets Refresher Course

Dr. J. Roger Skelton of the religious education department will offer a course dealing with principles of church growth.

Envoys Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved today President Johnson's nominations of Sargent Shriver to be ambassador to France and Henry Cabot Lodge to be ambassador to West Germany.

Unruh Appoints Kennedy Backers

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Joseph A. Forest of Novato and William M. Taylor of San Anselmo today were named co-chairmen of the Marin County Kennedy for President campaign by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, state chairman of the Kennedy campaign.

Named as vice-chairmen for Marin were Michael Berger of Mill Valley and Mrs. Olive Lewis of San Rafael.

Forest is a deputy county counsel and was chairman of the Marin County Brown for Governor campaign in 1966. Taylor, who also is Northern California chairman of the Citizens for Kennedy in '68, is a mutual fund and insurance broker.

Overpricing Linked To Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's adviser on consummer affairs says the widespread slum violence early this month made clear "the poor are being swindled, or feel they're being swindled" by their neighborhood merchants.

Betty Furness told the American Society of Newspaper Editors Convention the poor pay more and get less for their money.

She said inferior quality goods, overpricing, high interest rates and fraudulent practices are common in the slums.

"Unethical retail practice is a principal burner under any long hot summer," she said. Miss Furness added:

"I think the burning days of April have made it clear that one of the great problems of our urban ghettos is that the poor are being swindled, or feel they're being swindled."

Referring to a major 1965 riot, she asked: "Is it so startling that stores were burned in Watts where the markup on television sets ranged as high as 160 per cent above prices for the exact model in other parts of Los Angeles?

She said not all merchants in the slums are guilty of such practices.

Flournoy Again Loses On Appraiser Revision

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A powerful Senate committee rejected for the second straight year State Controller Houston I. Flournoy's plan to take politics out of appointment of inheritance tax appraisers.

The measure, killed yesterday by the Governmental Efficiency Committee, would have abolished the appointed appraisers. Flournoy calls the system the last vestige of the spoils system in California politics.

Flournoy's plan, killed by the same committee last year, would replace the present setup with a combination of self-appraisal by survivors, civil service appraisal in tough cases and some use of outside experts.

Chairman Richard J. Dolwig, R-Atherton, cut off Flournoy in the middle of his 11-page prepared testimony. Dolwig asked:

"Have you any testimony that wasn't presented to this committee last year?"

Flournoy said he had none, and the floor was given to the bill's opponents.

But when a representative of the State Bar of California rose to speak, he was similarly cut off by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael. The representative had said his testimony was substantially similar as well.

Then, by voice vote, the committee unceremoniously killed the bill.

CONTRACTORS PLEDGE HELP IN DISASTERS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Mobilization of $1 billion worth of heavy equipment to aid during disasters is pledged to the state by contractors in northern and central California.

Ready for use on a streamlined contract basis under "Plan Bulldozer" are earth movers, two tugboats, aircraft, communications gear and men to operate them, said Earl Parker of Marysville, yesterday.

Withholding, Tax Relief Bills Gain

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Payroll withholding of state personal income taxes advanced in the legislature today, three days after Californians paid the largest state income tax bill in history.

The measure, sponsored by Republican Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto, got Democratic and GOP help in winning 8-4 approval of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, yesterday, despite Gov. Ronald Reagan's declared opposition to withholding.

Some Democratic leaders indicated they now will let pressure build on Reagan before trying to force withholding — similar to paying the federal tax through paycheck deductions — on the Republican governor.

Also winning tax committee approval yesterday was the Governor's measure to grant California property owners — both businessmen and homeowners— $155 million in local tax relief through county governments.

The property tax relief measure must compete with another one backed by many Assembly Democrats which would limit the tax break to homeowners and renters.

During Wednesday's withholding hearing, Finance Director Caspar Weinberger was asked if protests against the big 1967 tax increase — the "ouch" factor — might have weakened Reagan's opposition to withholding.

Weinberger said his interpretation of the governor's statements is that Reagan still is still strongly against the system, but would be willing to reconsider if there was an indication of overwhelming public demand.

Helmet Rule Deleted From Motorcycle Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to require special tests and licenses for motorcyclists faces the full Assembly after a committee dropped provisions requiring cyclists to wear crash helmets.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee yesterday approved the modificed measure after motorcycle groups, including the Hells Angels, opposed the mandatory helmet requirement for drivers and passengers.

At present, a person can operate a motorcycle with an automobile driver's license. The bill's author, Assemblyman John Foran, D-San Francisco, said testing on special cycle riding skills would help reduce accidents.

Guilty Verdict On Reckless Driving

Judge Baty fined Adams $115 and suspended his drivers license for 30 days. Adams was cited by the California Highway Patrol on February 12 for reckless driving on the Tomales-Petaluma Road.

Corte Madera has Frank L. Nelson as police chief.

Senators Back Revisions In Regent Terms, Naming

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A key Senate committee has approved a constitutional amendment cutting terms of University of California regents from 16 year to 10.

The measure, approved yesterday by the Governmental Efficiency Committee, also would make the Senate President pro tempore a regent and require Senate confirmation of all regent appointments.

The measure's author, Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, said he made the term 10 years instead of the eight he originally proposed "in order to avoid the chance that a single governor could appoint an entire board."

Refresher First Aid Course Set

More signups are needed to conduct a refresher course in advanced first aid at the main firehouse on Tiburon Boulevard, it was announced today by Capt. Edward J. Parnell of the Tiburon Fire District.

Captain Parnell, who will instruct the three-session course, said it offers an opportunity for persons holding cards of advanced red cross training in first aid to renew their cards. Registration can be made at the firehouse.

Annexing To Tomales District Is Approved

Voters in Watson School District in Sonoma County have voted 20-8 to annex to the Tomales Bay Joint Union School District in Marin. The vote was Tuesday. The annexation will be effective July 1969.

Watson School, which served families in the area for more than a century, closed last June and the district is to go out of existence in July.

Felon Is Kept In Chains During Rare Marin Court Sanity Trial

By STEPHEN COOK

A rare sanity trial, with the defendant described by his attorney as so dangerous that he must be kept in chains, continued in Marin Superior Court today with testimony by court-appointed psychiatrists.

At issue is the present sanity of Leo Estrada Robles, 22, accused of pounding a psychiatric ward inmate at San Quentin prison with heavy weights, then slashing his throat with a razor blade imbedded in a tooth brush.

Robles, in prison for the hanging murder of a county jail cellmate in Santa Clara County, is accused of murder and assault by a life prisoner on another inmate.

JURY TO DECIDE

Legally, he must understand the nature of the charges against him and be capable of rationally cooperating with his attorney, Deputy Public Defender Harold J. Truett.

As Robles sat calmly in the courtroom, manacled in chains which extend from his feet, around his waist and to his hands, Truett said yesterday:

"The prison records will tell you that Mr. Robles is a man sitting on a keg of dynamite 24 hours a day. The question is whether this man is capable of cooperating with anyone.

"He is a man of such a disposition that even in prison, he is never left alone in a room with another person. I have never been allowed to talk to Mr. Robles without someone else in the room.

"No one knows how close the fuse is to the keg of dynamite. I don't think Mr. Robles himself knows. Try to put yourselves in the shoes of an attorney who is trying to work with him to present a defense on a case."

NEVER INVOLVED

Truett told the jury the trial is so unusual that neither he nor trial Judge Samuel W. Gardiner has ever been involved in such a proceeding.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales told the jury that Truett must prove his client is legally insane. Because it is a civil proceeding, a nine to three verdict is sufficient, he said.

"We're not talking today about whether Mr. Robles is mixed up, disturbed or sitting on a keg of dynamite that may blow up any minutes," Bales said. "What we're talking about is whether this man is mentally incompetent, insane. Three psychiatrists who examined him all say that the defendant is legally sane."

LEGALLY SANE

Dr. Martin George Blinder of the U. C. Medical Center in San Francisco, first psychiatrist to testify, told the jury that Robles is mentally ill, but legally sane.

Robles is a sociopath, who takes what he wants when he wants it, the doctor said. He does not learn from experience. Basically he is anti-social.

Under cross-examination by Bales, Dr. Blinder said that despite this illness, Robles is sane in terms of the law and is capable of standing trial.

IN CHAINS

Dr. Ernst Kopman, staff psychiatrist at Napa State Hospital, told the jury today that when he examined Robles at Vacaville March 15, Robles was kept in chains and a guard stayed in the room throughout the examination.

Such examinations are usually conducted in privacy, he said, except when the safety of the doctor is threatened.

Petaluman New Owner Of The Lodge

Oliver Kullberg, a Petaluma rancher and investor, is the new owner of the land and improvements of the Lodge in Novato, it was learned today.

Kullberg, who formerly held a $150,000 deed of trust on the property, acquired title under a trustee's deed on a forclosure sale held last Friday at Sonoma Title Guaranty Co., Santa Rosa. He was the sole bidder at the sale.

As the new property owner, Kullberg now becomes liable for the first deed of trust of approximately $350,000 held jointly by Marin County Savings and Loan Association and Northwestern Ravings and Loan Association, San Rafael.

The property was previously in the name of The Lodge, Inc., made up of a group of Sonoma and Marin county investors. The corporation continues as the operator of the motel and restaurant business which is said to be subject to litigation and several tax liens.

Prison Still Working On Sewage Plans

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — San Quentin Prison authorities still are trying to find a way to improve the treatment of sewage and waste water they dump in the bay, but nothing concrete has been done about the problem, according to a report to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board by the state Department of General Services.

The department made the report this week to the board on behalf of the prison. The "progress report" was requested by the water board.

Fred H. Dierker, acting executive officer and chief engineer for the water board, said the report will be reviewed by the staff and directors to determine if it shows adequate progress is being made. The board has been trying for years to have the prison meet board standards for waste water treatment.

The report said the prison is trying to work with Ross Valley Sanitary District and San Rafael Sanitation District to develop joint facilities.

Burst Water Main Causes Road Accident

A water main burst beneath Highway 101, north of San Rafael, last night causing at least one accident but no injuries.

Marin Municipal Water District workmen responded to a call water was bursting through the southbound pavement on Puerto Suello Hill at about 11 p.m. and found a gash in an eight-inch line, reported J. Dietrich Stroeh, associate engineer.

The water was turned off with a resulting drop in pressure to some areas of San Rafael but no loss in service, he said. The pressure was restored when workmen hooked up an alternative main.

Water splashed up onto cars in the northbound lanes and caused one minor accident, said the California Highway Patrol.

After the water was turned off, the pavement above the burst in the fast southbound lane began to sink several inches and CHP officers early today issued warnings to motorists.

The MMWD workmen were repairing the damage this morning and expected it to be completed by noon.

Rec Program Plans Accepted

The Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission decided last night to accept a proposal fromhthe Reed School District to supervise a joint summer recreation program with Tiburon.

Both cities would pay $750 each for the program arranged for children from kindergarten through high school age and the district would provide matching funds of $750 for the joint program for children 6-12 years old, according to Mrs. Wendy Buchen, commissioner.

Providing Tiburon also accepts the proposal, this will preclude the hiring of a youth director to supervise the program, according to Mrs. Buchen.

Span Session Off

A meeting scheduled today of the security committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District was postponed without explanation to 10:30 a.m. April 25 in the administration building. The special meeting was called to consider measures to stop suicides from the bridge.

Innocent Plea To Selling Marijuana

Jeffrey Douglas Finley, 18, of Novato, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge that he sold marijuana to students of Hill Junior High School and Novato High School.

Preliminary hearing on the charge was scheduled for May 21.

Czech Assembly Elect President

PRAGUE (UPI) — The Czech National Assembly today overwhelmingly elected Josef Smrkovsky, a former federal agriculture official and leading reformer, as its new president.

Smrkovsky, imprisoned during the Stalinist era, was recently elected a member of the Communist Party's central committee presidium. He succeeded former president Bohuslav Lastovicka.

Lastovicka said he resigned "because the Czechslovak people had questioned his attitude in the current process of democratization."

Shela Xoregos Dancers On Mill Valley Stage

Marin dance lovers who could not hear and see Duke Ellington's second Sacred Concert this week at Grace Cathedral in San Francisco will be able to see the young dance company which performed in it with Ellington.

The Shelda Xoregos Dance Company will appear Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts, 265 Buena Vista Avenue.

Miss Xoregos, premiere danseuse and choreographer for the company, is presenting a varied program of solos, duets and full company dances and will dance "Mobiles" and "Sea Suite" to music by Marin harpist Joel Andrews. Larry Roberson will perform "Danse" to music by Bartok.

Outstanding among the numbers given by the full company will be "Building Blocks," improvisational dances based on suggestions by the audience, and "Danse Macabre" to music by Bartok, which features ghouls, ghosts and other eerie creatures.

Miss Xoregos has appeared as a soloist at the Hollywood Bowl, at Stern Grove in San Francisco and with the Oakland Symphony.

Air West Lines Merged, New Schedule Soon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Air West, a merger of Pacific, Bonanza and West Coast air lines into the largest regional air carrier in the nation, is in business.

The consolidation took place yesterday and the new company's board of directors will hold its first meeting Friday in San Francisco, corporate and operations headquarters for the new line. Phoenix, Ariz., will be maintainence and training headquarters.

President G. Robert Henry said the new line expects to begin soon to merge the three separate schedules and start new through-plane flights which weren't possible before — such as through service from Phoenix to Seattle via Salt Lake City and from San Francisco to Phoenix via Las Vegas.

Air West routes extend eastward from the coast through Montana, Utah and Arizona, and from Calgary in Alberta southward to Guaymas, La Paz, Mazatlan and Puerto Vallarta in Mexico.

Soviets Loft Sixth Cosmos In A Month

MOSCO W (UPI)—The Soviet Union launched its sixth satellite of the month today into an oval orbit around the earth.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Cosmos satellite 214 was circling the earth every 90.3 minutes in an orbit ranging from 131 to 250 miles above the surface and inclined at 81.4 degrees to the equator.

ANGLED ORBIT

The steep angle of the new satellite's orbit with the equator indicated that it probably was not intended to rendezvous with two Soviet satellites which linked up in orbit on Monday.

Cosmos spaceships 212, launched Sunday, and 213, launched Monday, circled Earth and linked up in an orbit angled at 51.4 degrees to the equator, it was noted here.

The Soviets have not yet announced the return of Cosmos 212, the "pursuit" ship, and Cosmos 213, the "target" ship, to earth.

But space experts said here that it was unlikely the Russians would launch a third rendezvous ship into an orbit differing so widely from that used by the first two link-up craft.

SHOT'S PURPOSE?

Tass said, "scientific equipment has been installed on board Cosmos 214 for continuation of the exploration of outer space..."

This phraseology is frequently used for describing Cosmos missions which have included weather research, military reconnaisance, testing elements of manned-spacecraft prototypes, measuring cosmic radiation and carrying out communications experiments.

Marin Teen-agers will participate in a door-to-door march from noon to 4 p.m. May 5 to collect money for St. Judes Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. The hospital specializes in research in catastrophic diseases, especially leukemia.

Chairman of the Marin campaign, sponsored by Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children (ALSAC), is Judith Hopkins of 18½ Redwood Road in Fairfax. She will be assisted by Vicki Krzesowiak of San Santa Venetia.

Ninety per cent of the money collected in Marin County will be used for research, Judith said, and the remaining 10 per cent will be used for ALSAC administrative costs.

All of the teen-age solicitors will be wearing identification badges. Persons wishing to participate in the march should phone Miss Hopkins.

Possible Changes For Controversial Park Under Study

Donald Andresen, head of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce land development committee, reported to the chamber yesterday on possible changes in the county proposed 250-acre park in East Corte Madera marshlands.

Andresen said Pierre W. Joske, director of the county parks and recreation department, said some alterations which conceivably would eliminate garbage fill and permit private operation of a convention center and yacht harbor might be made to obtain a better reception by Corte Madera of the plan.

The town council has rejected the original proposal, based on what it termed overwhelming opposition of the residents and organizations. The chamber, however, said the rejection was premature. No decision on the merits of the plan has yet been made by the chamber, Robert D. Satterthwaite, chamber president, said yesterday.

Felon Is Kept In Chains During Rare Marin Court Sanity Trial

By STEPHEN COOK

A rare sanity trial, with the defendant described by his attorney as so dangerous that he must be kept in chains, continued in Marin Superior Court today with testimony by court-appointed psychiatrists.

At issue is the present sanity of Leo Estrada Robles, 22, accused of pounding a psychiatric ward inmate at San Quentin prison with heavy weights, then slashing his throat with a razor blade imbedded in a tooth brush.

Robles, in prison for the hanging murder of a county jail cellmate in Santa Clara County, is accused of murder and assault by a life prisoner on another inmate.

Legally, he must understand the nature of the charges against him and be capable of rationally cooperating with his attorney, Deputy Public Defender Harold J. Truett.

As Robles sat calmly in the courtroom, manacled in chains which extend from his feet, around his waist and to his hands, Truett said yesterday:

"He is a man of such a disposition that even in prison, he is never left alone in a room with another person. I have never been allowed to talk to Mr. Robles without someone else in the room.

"No one knows how close the fuse is to the keg of dynamite. I don't think Mr. Robles himself knows. Try to put yourselves in the shoes of an attorney who is trying to work with him to present a defense on a case."

Dr. Martin George Blinder of the U. C. Medical Center in San Francisco, first psychiatrist to testify, told the jury that Robles is mentally ill, but legally sane.

Marin Teen-Agers' March To Aid St. Jude Hospital

Marin Teen-agers will participate in a door-to-door march from noon to 4 p.m. May 5 to collect money for St. Judes Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. The hospital specializes in research in catastrophic diseases, especially leukemia.

Chairman of the Marin campaign, sponsored by Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children (ALSAC), is Judith Hopkins of 18½ Redwood Road in Fairfax. She will be assisted by Vicki Krzesowiak of San Santa Venetia.

Ninety per cent of the money collected in Marin County will be used for research, Judith said, and the remaining 10 per cent will be used for ALSAC administrative costs.

All of the teen-age solicitors will be wearing identification badges. Persons wishing to participate in the march should phone Miss Hopkins.

Possible Changes For Controversial Park Under Study

Donald Andresen, head of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce land development committee, reported to the chamber yesterday on possible changes in the county proposed 250-acre park in East Corte Madera marshlands.

Andresen said Pierre W. Joske, director of the county parks and recreation department, said some alterations which conceivably would eliminate garbage fill and permit private operation of a convention center and yacht harbor might be made to obtain a better reception by Corte Madera of the plan.

The town council has rejected the original proposal, based on what it termed overwhelming opposition of the residents and organizations. The chamber, however, said the rejection was premature. No decision on the merits of the plan has yet been made by the chamber, Robert D. Satterthwaite, chamber president, said yesterday.

Janet Sawyer Winner Of Volunteer Award

Janet Sawyer of Belvedere was honored as volunteer of the year yesterday at the Volunteer Bureau of Marin's annual meeting.

The award was a surprise to Janet, though not to those who have worked with her in her volunteer jobs. Mrs. Mary Roberts, director of volunteers at Marindale School for the Orthopedically Handicapped, says, "Janet is an incredible girl, she's warmhearted, happy, generous with her time. She gladly and efficiently takes over so many details and projects that I haven't time for myself."

Janet's biggest volunteer job at the moment is being secretarial assistant to Mrs. Roberts. She spends two or more days a week at the Marindale School, handling all the secretarial work involved in directing some 170 special education volunteers in the county.

A fifth generation San Franciscan, Janet moved with her family to Belvedere when she was four. In 1952, when she was 16, Janet was stricken with polio and has been confined to a wheel chair ever since. In the ensuing years she has wasted little time. After training to be a medical secretary she spent seven years as secretary to Dr. Walter J. Treanor at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. She has completed three years of college at San Francisco State, learned to drive her own specially equipped car, helped to design her own home in Belvedere, and pursued a wide range of hobbies.

Janet's hobbies and interests involve creativity and skill. She enjoys woodworking, mechanical drawing, interior decorating, creative stitchery, knitting, making wool rug hangings and jewelry. She pursues interests in architectural design, music, and reading and plays the alto and tenor recorder.

In addition to her work at Marindale School, Janet does office work at the Volunteer Bureau, is co-chairman for special projects for the Family Service League and belongs to St. Stephens Guild in Belvedere.

JANET SAWYER

Janet's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Finnie, live near her in Belvedere. Her sister, Pamela, is a student at Redwood High School. She has two brothers; Christopher, in business in Oakland, and Timothy who is in the Coast Guard Reserve and lives in San Francisco.

BRITAIN'S BARBARA CASTLE

Holds Woman's Most Powerful Post

By MARIS ROSS

LONDON (UPI) — Barbara Castle's father taught her that money isn't everything, so she never gave much thought to building a fortune.

But from her student days at Oxford she has had "a great compulsion toward politics" and this has carried her to the British cabinet as First Secretary of State for Employment and Productivity.

It is the most powerful political post any woman ever held in Britain.

MRS. CASTLE'S elevation by Prime Minister Harold Wilson this month to sixth in rank in his cabinet moves her into the inner circles of power in Whitehall, a precinct into which no woman has ventured before. And, further, Wilson paid her a singular tribute by creating the new post from two previously always held by men — the ministers of labor and of economic affairs.

BARBARA CASTLE arrives for work at her office in the Ministry of Labour. She is Britain's new First Secretary of State for Employment and Productivity, the most powerful political post ever held by a woman in Britain. (UPI telephoto)

She once said of herself that in her teens "I often wept my heart out because I wasn't a raving beauty. . . . I used to take one look in the glass, cast myself on the bed, and burst into tears."

If she has never been a "raving beauty" Mrs. Castle is, at 56, a nice looking woman with an attractive smile, copper colored hair, clear blue eyes and a trim matronly figure. She has been married since 1944 to Ted Castle, a journalist who is four years older than she. They have no children and — as she does not conceal — precious little family life.

IN AN interview last year, when she was Britain's minister of transport and not a popular one, she said, "I work 17 hours a day and in a full week have only six hours with my husband." But she also says, "The most wonderful thing about Ted is that he isn't the least bit jealous of the time I give to public service."

Politics have been Mrs. Castle's life. One year after her marriage she entered Parliament in 1945 as its youngest woman member, representing Blackburn. She has been sitting continuously as an MP ever since. In the years the Labor Party was out of power she was a sharp and often waspish critic of the way things were done.

In the 1950s and early 1960s she had the reputation of being a left-wing Laborite. She was critical of the United States' role in Korea and spoke out against U. S. actions in Korea taken without consulting Britain. She said of Sir Winston Churchill, then prime minister, that he "has become a lapdog sitting on the Stars and Stripes of America."

WHEN WILSON carried Labor to power in 1964, Mrs. Castle started out as minister for overseas development before getting the transport ministry in 1965. As transport minister she was so unpopular with motorists that police had to search her apartment from time to time because of bomb threats. Many of her moves raised storms of controversy.

She set about making the roads safer by introducing breathalyzer tests for drunkenness. She imposed a 70-mile-per-hour speed limit, safety checks on trucks, compulsory seat belts on new autos, stricter laws on auto tires. The drop in accident figures proves she was right.

Mrs. Castle put up with the unpopularity and the jokes about the fact she had never learned to dri . She also worked so hard that she caught pneumonia over Christmas and even then insisted on staying on her feet because of an important series of cabinet meetings on government expenditure cuts. She finally agreed, only after the meetings, to take a week off at the country cottage retreat used by the Castles on free weekends.

POLITICALLY SHE neither asks nor gives any quarter because of her sex. She comes from the northern county of Yorkshire which has a reputation for toughness. She is also honest, direct easily approachable if also sharp-tongued on occasions.

She was one of three children of a government tax inspector who edited a left-wing periodical, the Bradford Pioneer, in secret because civil servants were supposed to have nothing to do with politics.

Throughout her career she has taken an interest only sporadically in women's rights.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

He Wants To Go Steady, But She Just Wants To Be Friends

DEAR HELEN:

I've known this girl nearly six months and have asked her to go steady. She refused, but says she still wants to be friends.

Some examples of her friendship are:

At school she never speaks to me.

She talks to everyone except me.

When we're at a party she ignores me.

Now she has stopped inviting me over to her house, and we're neighbors.

But in spite of all this, I love her.

My friends and family say she is leading me on. What do you think?

— ALL MESSED UP

DEAR AMU:

I'd say she's turning you off. Accept it, and find another girl. The minute you do, this uppity dame will notice you again. I guarantee it.

I'd also say to your over-kind friends and family: "For Pete's sake, stop building up false hopes. When you keep feeding a boy lies he wants to hear, you only make the truth that much harder to take." —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Although I am only 10 years old, I read your column every night, but I still have problems.

When I ask my parents a question, they never answer, or anyway, never answer until five minutes later, or else they don't hear and ask me to repeat it.

How can I make then answer faster?

—WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED:

Catch them when they aren't neck-deep in other thoughts, if that's possible. Parents hardly ever hear it the first time, when it's asked over the top of their Sunday paper.

Here's a trick our daughter Sue uses: When "hey, Mom" doesn't quite get through to me, she busts out with "Dear Helenhelpus," and if this doesn't penetrate, she says, "Mrs. Bottel, may I have a word with you?" In other words, honey, start your question with something catchy and different, and you usually get results. — Just ask me! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please reprint the article about the missing "e" on the typewriter, entitled "Doxs Onx Mattxr?" I need it for our school paper, and I think others would like to read it again too.

—ED THE EDITOR

DEAR ED:

Newspaper linotypists and copyreaders will hate me for it, but here goes:

DOXS ONX MATTXR?

Xvxn though my typxwritxr is an old modxl, it works quitx wxll xcxpt for onx or two kxys. I havx wishxd many timxs that it workxd pxrfxctly. It is trux that thxrx arx forty-four-kxys that function wxll xnough, but just onx kxy not working makxs thx diffxrxncx.

. . . And try that on your typewriter!!! —H.

Sports Coats

Innovation in sports coats for men this spring largely is confined to color. Most popular are plaids combining rusts, burnt oranges, salmons, ochres and other shades in the warm red-brown family. Gentlemen's Quarterly says the newer solid colors are the most eye-catching. Samples: a sport suit in fuchsia mohair and wool, a chartreuse jacket, a double-breasted blazer in tomato red. If stripes are your man's line, consider a jacket that combines wide silver stripes with navy. All of this will take some getting used to—unless you wear dark glasses regularly.

Nylon Slips

To prevent a nylon slip from clinging to a uniform or sheer dress, dust both garments with talcum powder.

Weekend Shopper Has Wide Choices Of Menu, With Fish, Fowl Leading

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers can make their selections from ample supplies of meat and poultry and good stocks of some fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to hold the spotlight as the most abundant meats. Bacon, ham, pork chops and pork roasts are in the abundant class in most areas with Boston butts and smoked picnics in this category in some areas. Shoppers should also find ample displays of beef from which to make their choices, especially roasts and steaks. North Pacific halibut steaks and fish fillets are fish buys to watch for according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, carrots, and potatoes are again the most abundant fresh vegetables. Fruits in the abundant class are apples and oranges with bananas and grapefruit joining them in some areas.

Grare AA eggs are showing considerable price decreases in West Coast markets this week.

Wholesale prices on beef are generally steady, with trends mixed on both cured and fresh pork cuts. Trimmed beef loins are lower around Los Angeles, where fresh skinned hams are down. Fresh pork loins are higher in San Francisco; Boston butts have dropped in the Bay Area.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, asparagus, cabbage, carrots and potatoes.

Best fish buys for the West are: North Pacific halibut steaks, ocean perch, cod and sole fillets, rockfish, dungeness crab, Pacific oysters and canned tuna.

Mrs. Ward has been a member of the RDP-TC for six years and has been active in its program, as vice president, program chairman for the family life and education series, and president of the Tiburon School PT-C unit.

Audrey is also a past chairman of the Village Salvage Shop in Tiburon, an American Red Cross Gray Lady, area co-chairman for the Republican Party and precinct chairman, as well as a member of World Wings International, the organization for former Pan American stewardesses.

The purpose of the PT-C, according to Audrey, is "to enrich, through volunteer services, the lives of our school children." Any parent or guardian of children attending Reed District Schools is eligible for membership.

A graduate of Florida State University with a B.A. degree in political science and romance languages, Mrs. Ward had her earlier education at Mary Louis Academy in Jamaica, N. Y.

Beside her arm chair travels, and an occasional trip, such as the one she and her husband took to Japan two years ago, Audrey enjoys "grass roots" political activity, reading, swimming and family outings to explore old California gold mines and ghost towns.

'Nobody Understands But Another Widow'

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The statistic is grim. Some eight million women belong to its often lonely, often tragic, often pessimistic group. They're the ones who either give up to grief or struggle to rejoin the human race.

They're the widows of the U.S.A.

Books on widowhood and adjustment to it and the one-parent role have been written before, some of them by persons with little or no acquaintance with loss in their own lives.

But now, a widow tells it like it is, in a forthright and heartening account, tells it in terms of her strong religious faith that helped her through the first difficult months, tells it with candor and often, amazingly, with humor.

The book is "When You're a Widow" (Concordia, St. Louis) and its author is Clarissa Start, a columnist and feature writer for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"Nobody understands but another widow," says the author. But her writings should help others understand the widow's reactions from the initial shock and grief until the day she realizes that once more she has to become part of the world around her.

"If there were no other message for widows in the experience of one of our vast number, this would be the paramount one I would like to pass on," she says.

"You can surmount your grief. You can rejoin the human race. You may even be a better member of the human race because of your sorrow. You will—eventually—even sense a certain pity for those whose lives have not been touched by grief, for they have not lived life to the fullest."

Miss Start, a writer for more than 30 years, was widowed after 29 years of marriage to E. Gary Davidson, a prominent political and civic figure in Missouri. He was the victim of a heart attack, leaving his widow to bring up their teen-aged son.

Numbing, tearless grief was hers for the first few days. But the future must be faced and she describes the cold details of papers, documents, applications, transfers, and the disposal of personal effects the widow must face.

Despite the advice of friends to "get away for a while," Miss Start said she found that a change of scene was that only—"Don't go away to try to forget your grief. You'll only take your sorrow with you."

But the author emphasizes that as each person is an individual, so each widow's reactions are individual, her emotional outbursts may be created by any number of things—"the supper hour, a trip alone to the supermarket, hearing an old tune. . ."

Once the widow turns around to participate again, she'll also find the fear of being a fifth wheel at any social gathering. Her solution in large groups was to keep circulating so no one couple would feel obliged to ask her to join them. Often she forced herself to attend a party that "hadn't been as much fun as all that...all I'd gotten out of it were some unneeded calories..."

But forcing herself to go it alone, she found, was a "moral victory. Next time it would be easier."

One of Miss Start's chapter is headed "Sex and the Single Widow". "At first the very idea that you might someday feel physical desire for another man is completely repugnant," she says. "You are on a spiritual plane, communing with the saints . . ." but as time passes, there is that need to love and be loved.

"There are no rules for widows," she goes on. "She must make her own. (But) the wise widow would, I should think, confine her social life to men who are marriageable and whom she'd want to marry—even if she doesn't think (now) that she'll ever want to marry."

And there is sublimation of both grief and the longing in service to others—"there is much to be gained from thinking of others rather than yourself."

Grandmothers

Garden Tour In Ross On April 25

Five gardens in the Ross Valley will be open for a public tour on April 25 and a picnic luncheon will be held at the Russel Smith home's terrace for tour guests.

The garden tour is sponsored by the Marin Garden Club as a benefit for the Jose Moya del Pino Library Fund of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Mr. Moya, a well known Marin artist, is a founding member of the Marin Art and Garden Center and the center's seal and portrait of Mrs. Norman B. Livermore hung at the center are examples of his work. The library, housed at the center, will include books and papers of interest to the member groups of the center, with emphasis on the arts, drama, gardens and crafts.

Garden tour guests will park their cars at the Marin Art and Garden Center and take shuttle transportation to the gardens, between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Others may drive their own cars to the tour sites in Ross and Del Mesa.

Gardens to be opened tor the tour are those of Mrs. Susan Hossfeld, Mrs. E. O. Holter, Mrs. E. H. Bechtel, Mrs. Harris Kirk and the Dibblee garden. Picnic luncheon will be at the Russell Smith home in Ross.

Mrs. Smith is chairman of the tour. She will be assisted by Mesdames Thomas Kent, Russell Mackey, John Witter, Charles Carruthers, Donald Perry, Wallace Hickman, Normand Halloran, John Gilman and John Manwaring. Mrs. Norman Eddy will arrange shuttle transportation.

Summer No Longer Only Popular Vacation Season

"Where are you going on your vacation?"

Twenty years ago that was a summertime question. Now, it's a good conversation opener all year round.

If you ask it, chances are the replies will run something like this:

"George was number one in sales last year and the company is sending us both to Hawaii."

"During the kids' mid-term vacation we're going to drive up North for some skiing."

"We went to Europe last Spring, but this year, because of the deficit payment situation and everything, we've decided to go to the Caribbean."

The jet-age trend in non-summer vacationing has developed to the point, the Institute of Life Insurance reports, that one travel publication survey estimates one out of four people who goes away from home for a week or longer does so between November and March. Another survey shows that 60 per cent of those who vacation in the United States and 58 per cent of those who go abroad do so between October and June.

"There's no such thing as an off-season for travel anymore," according to a travel expert.

Higher incomes, more leisure time, improved highways, faster planes and a more sophisticated public are among the many factors behind the travel boom.

Another is the American woman's desire to travel. U. S. passport statistics show that the second largest occupational group listed by applicants was the one labeled "housewife."

Money plays a part, too. More families — an estimated 30 per cent of the population — are now in the $10,000-or-more-a-year bracket. With planning, they can afford a winter vacation, frequently in addition to a summer one. This 30 per cent of families puts in half the nation's travel time and spends nearly half the travel dollars.

Yet, the story isn't just simply one or more people having more money to spend. Many people take advantage of lower rates during the months preceding and following the peak resort seasons.

Line But Faintly Drawn On Formulating Policy

The roles of elected executives-legislators and appointed administrators in local government are divided by a tenuous line.

The theory is that the elected board makes policy, and the appointed administrator carries it out.

No one, though, has ever been able to provide a really satisfactory answer as to just where policy begins and ends.

THE OLD CONFLICT arose again this week before the Marin County Board of Supervisors. Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the county's human rights commission, charged that the county administrator's office — and particularly Asst. Administrator Thomas F. Campanella —had imposed policy decisions on him and his staff.

Specifically, Thompson charged that the administrator's office had directed him to put a police-community relations training program under the district attorney; he had planned to work with the sheriff.

Supervisors sought to soothe ruffled feelings on the human rights commission, but they could not quite go so far as to tell the administrator's office, "hands off!" In the intricacies of a county government much expanded in recent years, they must depend too much on the administrator for that.

THE INCIDENT was in no way unusual; in fact, it might be called typical. Nor does the conflict that appeared here arise only in the county government. Each city manager, each superintendent of schools, must theoretically tread an invisible line — and be careful not to step over it.

In practice, the administrator steps over as far as he thinks he can without getting rudely knocked back.

For instance: It is a matter of policy whether the county contracts with a single ambulance firm for emergency service or with more than one. But County Administrator Alan Bruce did not hesitate to recommend a single contract at a January meeting of the supervisors. He was not censured for this.

It was advocacy of policy when Bruce declared at a public meeting of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs that the county should immediately set up its own bus system as a short-term solution to transportation problems. But it caused hardly a ripple.

Policy is formulated every time a school superintendent decides what portion of expected revenue should be allocated to capital outlay, what portion to athletic supplies, etc. But school trustees — elected to make policy — not only permit this but depend on the superintendent for it.

WHAT TENDS TO HAPPEN has long been recognized in federal and state bureaucracies: Where no policy has been laid down by the elected lawmakers, the hired help makes its own. And this, for most purposes, takes on the authority of law.

Public officials are fond of saying that we have a government of laws instead of a government of men. It would be more true to say we have a government of regulations — neither of men nor of laws..

And all too often, the regulations do not originate with the men who were elected to make the laws.

". . . with the exception of Phnom Penh, Cambodia . . . Warsaw, Poland . . ."

Humphrey Could Prove The Man To Unify Torn Democratic Party

WASHINGTON — It's too soon to count Bobby in.

It's too early to count Hubert out.

These are the two most significant political judgments in the wake of President Johnson's withdrawal.

Senator Kennedy's drive is slowing. When Mr. Johnson suddenly left the presidential field open, the Kennedy men expected an almost automatic bandwagon effect among the Democratic regulars who had been for the president.

The band and the wagon are there but few are getting aboard. The reason is that the influential party leaders had been counting on Johnson for renomination but suddenly found they had to make up their minds whether they wanted Robert Kennedy in the White House.

FOR AWHILE it looked as though the president's withdrawal would make it relatively easy for Bobby. But what has happened is that an unexpected and substantial resistance to a Kennedy nomination has developed.

Simultaneously and even before any announcement of his candidacy, powerful political support has been springing up for Vice President Humphrey.

It comes from labor, and from farm groups. It comes from consumer spokesmen who have a large, politically conscious constituency.

But one question was whether Hubert Humphrey could command significant backing from the conservatives of business when the alternative wasn't Barry Goldwater. They all know that Humphrey is a political liberal determined to use the resources of the federal government to reduce poverty and end the blight of the city ghettos.

Was Hubert anti-business, did he look on profit as a dirty word, did he want to suffocate business with more federal regulation?

IT IS EVIDENT that many of the top echelon of business are genuinely drawn to Humphrey, feel that he understands and values the free enterprise system, and would not be at all uncomfortable supporting him against anybody. Many are anti-Kennedy; a large number of them are pro-Hubert.

Not long ago on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of Forbes Magazine, Malcolm Forbes entertained 400 heads of major American corporations and confronted them with the vice president as guest of honor and speaker.

Mr. Forbes introduced Humphrey as "a man of sincerity, a man of informed conviction who says things that make sense."

Hubert spoke — and made new friends.

"I have faith in our free enterprise system," he said. "I do not think the full limits of its potential are yet in sight. How can we help you without getting in your way? What can we do together to provide jobs, housing, and opportunity?"

One who was present reported that Hubert "charmed the Republicans off their feet," and another concluded that if Humphrey had been a Republican these businessmen would have nominated him for president right there.

NO ONE CAN SAY at this point how much support the vice president will get from the conservative business leaders who backed President Johnson in 1964. But what is significant is that he has the trust of the business community while Senator Kennedy has the distruct of the business community.

What makes Humphrey a potentially formidable contender for the Democratic nomination is that he has the substantial backing from the major political forces — labor, farmers, urban voters, and southern Democrats — which in coalition have put a Democrat in the White House for 28 of the last 36 years.

At this stage most Democratic governors, mayors, and other political leaders are withholding support from Kennedy. They are waiting to see how quickly Humphrey can establish himself as an independent force released from the image of LBJ. I believe they are disposed to feel that Hubert could do more than anyone else to unite a badly divided party.

Must Recognize Mankind's Oneness

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The greatest challenge to this age is the recognition of the oneness of mankind. The painful but inevitable broadening of each man's allegiance from his own ethnic, racial, religious, national, cultural and economic group to the wider embrace of all mankind constitutes the central revolution of our time. Every person is affected by this revolution, which calls for changes in the provincial attitudes and behavior of all the people of the world. The recognition that mankind belongs to one family under one God brings with it the responsibility to respect and to help one another in every way.

Thankful For Help Despite Tragedy

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We would like at this time to thank all the people who were such a help during the recent accident of our son.

The police, firemen, ambulance crew, hospital staff and by-standers all acted with great speed, efficiency, and heart. The fact that it was all to no avail does not in the least lessen our great gratitude. Also, in this age of "no involvement," it was wonderful to find just how many people (even strangers) offered help and solace.

Help For Boys Who Deserve It

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We are wondering how many of our fellow Marinites are feeling as we do? In view of all that has taken place lately to do with the Negros (or black if that is the preferred term) problems we find ourselves wanting very much to show our sympathy and approval of the efforts being made by those who believe in our system of orderly procedures. We would like to prove to them in some tangible way that they have our support and respect.

One such effort is being made through the Boy's Club of Southern Marin. It is located in Marin City and is reaching a great many youngsters within the framework of a well respected national youth organization but on a very meager budget. Being fairly recently organized here it does not yet qualify for United Fund aid and its continuous existence is far from being assured. It is sneered at by the advocates of violence and swamped with boys who use its facilities to the hilt.

Upon investigation we found that one thing which they need and which would serve many purposes is a bus with a capacity for 40 people. Our proposal is that if each of us who would like to identify ourselves with the good people of our county who are quietly (and we're afraid dispairingly on occasion) trying to do a constructive thing would send them what we can afford as a gift the funds might readily appear for the longed-for bus and it could become an actuality. Then when the boys assemble to go to another bay area boy's club for a basketball game or what-have-you they can be sure they are actually going — not just gather in the hope that enough volunteer drivers will show so they get to go.

We are mailing our check today. If there are not enough gifts for a bus we are indicating they may use it in any way they consider best.

Preposition Dropped, Altering Meaning

Campaign Against Dread Killer

Cancer has become the most feared killer among the ailments of man. And in the forefront of the fight to find ways of cure and prevention is the American Cancer Society.

The Marin County branch of the society today opened a campaign to raise $58,000 as its quota toward the organization's work in research, public and professional education, and service. Volunteer residents are leading the drive.

There are many fund campaigns each year in behalf of little-known charities, or to raise funds to attack rare diseases. Each has its reasons, of course. But the cancer fund does not fall into the same category with these; its reason is apparent to all; its need for funds is beyond question.

Beilenson's New Abortion Bill: Will It Help Or Hurt Candidacy?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — State Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, is a candidate for the U. S. Senate and, from some reports, has not had too much success in developing a lot of press coverage for his campaign.

This is understandable. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., is the incumbent, with 16 years of experience. On the Republican side, he's opposed by Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction who has been in the news often since his first election in 1962.

On the Democratic side, there are former State Controller Alan Cranston and William M. Bennett, outspoken liberal member of the California Public Utilities Commission, to mention two.

BE THAT as it may, Beilenson has introduced a bill in the Legislature which is certain to put him back into the news columns. It would make an important extension to the so-called therapeutic abortion bill which Beilenson authored last year and which finally was passed and signed into law.

For those who might feel Beilenson introduced the bill merely to make headlines, there is the serious question as to whether such a bill will help him or hurt him. The abortion bill in 1967 was one of the most explosive of the session, with more interest shown by the public even than was shown in the gigantic tax increase program.

The California Medical Association favored the bill but, in opposition were Gov. Ronald Reagan and influential legislators from both parties.

Toward the end of the 1967 session, Beilenson agreed to an important amendment of the bill, after Governor Reagan said he would support the bill with that change. When the amendment was made, the bill went on to final passage and became law.

The change was to remove as grounds for a legalized abortion the cases where there was a substantial chance a child might be born with defects, primarily because of the mother's contracting of German measles. Reagan said he felt a panel of doctors in a hospital was not qualified to judge life or death for an unborn infant.

BEILENSON'S new bill would add to the law the provision an abortion could be performed "where there was substantial risk that the child would be born with a grave physical or mental defect."

Beilenson admits that he doubts many of the persons who opposed that portion of the bill last year will have changed their mind.

Magic Isles Of Bahamas Move Toward Self-Rule

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Within the last half dozen years, a string of British-ruled islands in the Caribbean have achieved total independence or internal self-rule. Most of them have Negro governments and, except for a few isolated instances, this new independence has been achieved without the violence affecting so many other parts of the world.

Fully independent and jealous of their new status are such as Jamaica, Barbados and Trinidad-Tobago.

Holding associated statehood, under which the British handle only foreign affairs and defense are Grenada, St. Jucia, Antigua and Dominica.

Others with self-rule lie among the scattered islands of the Windwards, the Leewards, the British Virgin Islands, the Caymans, Turks and Caoicos.

MOVING CLOSER to independence as result of new elections is another crown colony which, because of its strategic location and a huge American investment, is of special interest to the United States.

There a black government headed by Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling won a landslide victory which apparently broke forever the political power of the "Bay Street Boys," a small group of white elite families whose power traditionally had been unquestioned.

Their campaign slogan had been "Don't turn your back on the Union Jack."

PINDLING, who took over a year ago in January with a majority of one in the assembly and boosted it this year to 29 out of 38 seats, denies he is turning his back on the British Union Jack, but will seek total internal self-rule in what he has called a "constitutional advance."

This would include control of police, a voice in the appointment of the British governor and deprive the governor of his right to appoint a majority of the senate. The senate's power is limited but it can delay legislation approved by the assembly.

Strategically, the U.S. Navy maintains an anti-submarine missile center on Andros Island and has stations on San Salvador, Eleuthere and Grand Turk.

THE ISLANDS, with a population of around 150,000, have no natural resources beyond their magnificent climate. The tourist trade alone is enough to make them solvent.

Big time casino gambling also helps. Part of the "Bay Street Boys" campaign against Pindling was based on a claim that an all-Negro government would frighten tourists away. But the American firm which took over the Paradise Island interests of Huntington Hartford is said to have thrown its support behind Pindling.

And so far there has been no flight of capital nor a shortage of tourists.

Cultural Exchange By Moppets Results From Chance Meeting

A project of communication and friendship between school classes in different countries is no new idea, but Principal Mervin Gootherts of Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur is rightfully proud of one to which his second graders have responded.

It resulted from a visit in England last July between Dorothy Walters, second grade teacher at the Hall School, and Kathleen Stubbs, headmistress of Colden Primary School in Yorkshire, England.

MRS. WALTERS, who was staying at Hepton Stall near Colden Valley, said she met Miss Stubbs, learned of the latter's plan to gather tape recordings, letters and photographs from the 60 children in her class, and take them with her on a tour of Canada and the United States to find a class that would like to exchange knowledge and thoughts.

Mrs. Walters suggested her own class would relish just such a project. She and Miss Stubbs agreed to have their respective classes exchange the letters and recordings immediately, and each compile a single, large book during the current year.

From the rural, sparse countryside of Yorkshire will be mailed soon a two-foot high "book" crammed with information, drawings, illustrations of life in the school, details of families, farms, local industries, pets, hobbies, and personal messages, said Mrs. Walters.

Her class, in turn, has almost completed its own book, and should have it ready to mail to England in about 10 days.

IN AN INTERVIEW with a Yorkshire newspaper, the Halifax Evening Courier and Guardian, Miss Stubbs commented that the accounts by her pupils vary considerably because the school draws from a diverse way of life, both in Yorkshire hamlets and remote farms.

"The children have really enjoyed the venture," she said. "And of course it is an excellent exercise in self-expression which is something we try to foster at the school."

Mrs. Walters and Gootherts couldn't be more in agreement. "It not only involves creative writing," said the principal, "but the social studies, as well." He said through this exchange, the 30 Hall School pupils are getting a wonderful sampling of the culture of the rural Yorkshireman, and a lesson in economics at an elementary level.

Schools Increasing Share Of Tax Take

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

School districts took 51.9 per cent of California's property tax dollars for this fiscal year, and school taxes increased 9.8 per cent over last year.

In 10 years, California school taxes levied on property have gone up 181.2 per cent, while total property tax levies have increased 152.9 per cent and population has grown only 37.8 per cent.

These figures are contained in the California Taxpayers Association's recently published "Property Tax Levies for California Local Governments, 1968."

NOW IS THE TIME when school district officials are preparing their budget estimates for next year. By August, the district boards will have committed themselves beyond retreat. To large extent, next year's budgets are now being determined with setting of new salary schedules.

So, although figures make dull reading, it is appropriate to take a look at what is happening to school taxes.

Over the years, the schools' share of the property tax dollar has crept upward pretty steadily.

This year, seven counties — San Mateo, San Benito, Amador, Marin, Mariposa, Shasta and Santa Clara — levied more than 60 cents of each tax dollar for school support (not counting the county superintendent's share). Last year, only three counties — Marin, Mariposa and San Benito — were in this group.

Only 12 of California's 58 counties used less than 50 cents of the tax dollar for schools this year, and seven of them were barely under the 50-cent mark. The lowest was sparsely populated Alpine County, with 27.2 cents to schools (despite a 47.9 per cent school tax increase over last year), closely followed by populous San Francisco, with 29.9 cents to schools (and school taxes up 11 per cent over fiscal 1967).

SCHOOL TAX levies went up over 40 per cent in one county (Alpine), over 20 per cent in five others (Butte, Modoc, Mono, San Benito and Tuolumne), and over 10 per cent in 32 of the 58 counties.

They went down in only two — by 2.2 per cent in Nevada and 6.3 per cent in Trinity.

In 10 years, they have gone up by more than 300 per cent — thus at least quadrupling —in eight counties, and by more than 200 per cent in 20 more.

The eight counties with the greatest increases in school taxes over the decade are El Dorado (587.8 per cent), Alpine (521.2), Orange (405.5), Marin (400), Tuolumne (338), Santa Clara (312.6), Santa Barbara (300.1 and Santa Cruz (also 300.1).

Among these, only El Dorado, Orange and Santa Barbara have doubled in population in the same 10 years.

THE SCHOOL BUDGETS now being prepared for next year will call for more from the property tax in most cases.

There is, as usual, a school "property tax relief" bill in the legislature. As usual, it follows a complicated formula so that the school officials won't know until after budgets are submitted just how much they will get from the state — if the bill passes.

On the other hand, they may lose some of the windfall they got last year from the sales tax increase. Gov. Ronald Reagan is disenchanted about giving the money to the school districts because they failed to make corresponding reductions in property taxes — as the California Taxpayers Association figures show. He wants to divert it elsewhere.

THE SCHOOLS, however, were not alone in this. Cities and counties also got new revenue from the state. But county taxes went up 9.7 per cent — almost as fast as schools; and cities were not far behind with a 7 per cent increase, statewide.

Taxpayers who really want to know where all this money goes have a lot of meeting attendance ahead of them in the next two months, when counties, cities, school districts and special districts will all set up their budgets. The meetings, however, probably will draw small attendance from the public.

Strep Infections Top Marin Disease List

Eighty-three strep infections were reported in Marin County last week, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht of the Marin County Health Department reported yesterday.

Other communicable diseases reported last week were 19 cases of mumps, four cases of infectious hepatitis and two cases of meningitis.

San Geronimo Valley Group Elects Slate

The San Geronimo Valley Association has re-elected Stanley R. Frederick of Lagunitas as president.

Also re-elected were Mrs. Mary Furdas as treasurer and Mrs. Louise Wood, recording secretary. Newly elected at a meeting Monday were Joseph Furdas, vice president, and Winifred Frederick, corresponding secretary.

Directors chosen were Mrs. Betty Gardner of Woodacre, Mrs. Marie Ringer of San Geronimo, Jean Bevans of Forest Knolls and Mrs. Jan Tarr of Lagunitas, Charles G. Enyart and Mrs. Clarice Stevens were named at-large. Mrs. Stevens also was named publicity chairman.

Also at the meeting Monday, the association learned that it may be the responsibility of the county to widen and police non-county maintained roads included in subdivision maps, though not formally dedicated, prior to 1937. Deputy County Counsel Thomas W. Hendricks is investigating further.

Supervisorial and Assembly candidates will speak May 20.

Fair Trial-Press Panel For ACLU

A panel discussion on "the right of fair trail vs. freedom of the press" will open the meeting of the Marin County chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Co-Op meeting room in Corte Madera.

Panelists will be Steven McNamara, publisher of the Pacific Sun, and attorneys E. B. Washburn and Carl Shapiro. Richard Wertheimer will be moderator. An audience discussion will follow the panel.

The ACLU board of directors will discuss regular business after the panel discussion.

NOW THREE CHOICES

Traveling Marin Physician Finds New Home—Africa

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Until now, whenever Dr. Jesse L. Carr of San Rafael has wanted to get away from it all, he has had only two alternatives.

Either to take things easy on his ranch in the Sacramento Valley or to take a quick trip to his private desert island in the South Pacific.

Recently, the enterprising physician has been considering a third choice — Africa.

Back from a five-week tour of cattle ranches in South Africa, Kenya and Uganda, he was full of enthusiasm for the land and its people.

"This was my first trip to that part of the world but—I'd return there again any time.

"There is a lot of vitality, not unlike the California of the 1920s," said Carr, a faculty member of the University of California Medical School and pathologist and chief of the San Francisco Shriners Hospital and the Chinese Hospital of San Francisco.

He and his wife, Elsie, were among a group of cattlemen and breeders who went on an African livestock study tour sponsored by Western Livestock Journal.

Carr was to learn not only a little about cattle cross breeding which could benefit his 1,500-acre ranch 25 miles from Marysville, but information too about some of the 259 human-attacking viruses that plague parts of Africa.

The introduction of the viruses to the American visitors during the trip resulted in an elephant's tusk for Dr. Carr.

"I'd taken along a few medical samples just in case and they came in useful when most of the party became sick with one thing or the other," he said.

By way of a fee, the grateful patients clubbed together and bought him the tusk.

The doctor said he found the tour fascinating. He felt most of the racially-slanted stories originating from South Africa were exaggerated.

"The country has a tough-minded, single purpose government. They have a problem which, no matter how we feel personally about it, has to be dealt with the only way they know how."

From his talks with some of the "more responsible" natives, he said he got the feeling they were experiencing the greatest security under the present system. "They like it the way it is," he said.

Since its independence from Britain, the country of Uganda was moving steadily forward. The people there were shrewder and were launching several big land projects, he said.

TWO WORLDS — Although enthusiastic about a recent trip to Africa, pathologist Dr. Jesse L. Carr has his prime interest in the South Pacific and a desert island he owns. At his home in San Rafael, he explains a model of a Bure, a Fijian sleeping house built on coconut straw. (Independent-Journal photo)

"The hotels refused to touch dollars or travelers checks until they knew what the rate would be," he said. "It's a strange feeling to be marooned without money and to be somewhere where they are not falling over themselves for your dollars."

Carr had an internationally recognized credit card which was accepted by the hotel. Others in the party gave the hotel manager an ultimatum.

"Either he was to accept the dollars or send the bill on home and take the risk it would be paid," he said. "Of course, he accepted the dollars in the end."

Nairobi has long ago replaced Paris or Rome as the rich man's playground. As many as 17 minibuses sometimes leave the hotels each day with freshly-dressed tourists bound for a safari in the jungle.

Carr used to watch them with fascination. "The greatest thing about a safari is being properly dressed for the part," he said. "I'd see them returning and, although they'd be almost completely exhausted, they would be tremendously happy."

By comparison with some of the farms he saw, his own 1,500 acre ranch in the Sacramento Valley was small indeed. He said he learned a great deal on the trip, particularly about cattle cross breeding which is being practiced more and more in this country.

How was medical science compatible with farming? "In a way, looking after animals is pretty much the same, whether they have two legs or four," he said, with a smile.

From his own experience, he had found that in most doctors, there was a frustrated rancher trying to get out. "I suppose it is because it is the furthest they can go to relax from their job," he expained.

About eight years ago, the Carrs bought, sight unseen, a 16-acre island called Rewalau in the Fiji group. They have been spending annual vacations there ever since.

It is a typical South Pacific island — with coconut palms, papayas, breadfruit, bananas and tropical vegetables. He said Rewalau was granted to a sea captain by Queen Victoria.

Dr. Carr was staying with Dr. Roy Edmunds, dean of the medical school in Fiji, some years earlier when he mentioned he would like to buy an island.

Long afterward, the doctor suddenly received a cable telling him Rewalau was on the market and he immediately replied: "Buy it."

"The emerging nations of Africa may hold a challenge to the imagination, he said, but there was something about the peace of the South Pacific.

"If it really came to a choice between Africa and the island," he said. "I really think I would choose the South Pacific."

Reformer Says Lies Surround Marijuana Use

Hugh A. Hinchcliffe of Tamalpais Valley, a biochemical engineer, said today California law should treat marijuana in much the same fashion as it governs the use of alcohol.

He told the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club in San Rafael that he has smoked marijuana irregularly for 20 years and suffered no harmful effects.

Hinchcliffe, speaking at the Elks Club in San Rafael, said he felt marijuana users were being discriminated against because of unfounded fears that marijuana leads to the use of more powerful drugs, caused persons to commit crimes and changed human behavior.

"There are lies told that are not in the best interests of anyone," he said.

REFORM LEADER

Hinchcliffe believed marijuana might be more difficult than alcohol to control because it grows wild, but was opposed to its indiscriminate sale.

Hinchcliffe, who works at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, has helped lead a Bay Area drive to reform marijuana laws. Last year, his home was a headquarters for gathering affidavits in support of Melkon Melkonian, a Mill Valley mechanic convicted of marijuana violations.

On the subject of marijuana and driving, Hinchcliffe said there was no reason to penalize a motorist who has smoked a "joint" if he shows no deleterious effects. This applies to a marijuana smoker in any situation, Hinchcliffe said, "as long as he is not harming his neighbor or himself."

PARENTS' DECISION

He said there was no reason why an 18-year-old should not be privileged to smoke marijuana, as well as buy liquor or beer.

But the parents must decide this, he contended, adding:

"If you raise them rationally and you use it (marijuana) yourself, you can show them what it is and what it isn't — and show them that they don't really need it; that it is a crutch for their parents."

"I don't think anybody has any business shooting themselves up with drugs," he said.

Pair Poles Apart On Commuter Tax

Only one measure of agreement was reached today by a supervisor from Marin and one from San Francisco debating the commuter tax proposed by San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto.

Vast sums of additional money were needed to cope with growing urban problems, and regional government was one way to raise that money, agreed Marin County Supervisor Peter H. Behr and San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn.

POLES APART

But on most other matters concerning the 1 per cent payroll tax on commuters working in San Francisco, the two supervisors found themselves poles apart on KTIM'S "Marin Sounding Board" program.

Mendelsohn explained the increasing needs of the cities and the fact property owners in San Francisco were facing a jump to 25 per cent on their property tax bill.

Among the services he said were used by commuters were law enforcement agencies, health services, the parking authority, sanitary services, street cleaning, the emergency hospitals and the muni railway.

"But I feel that we should think less in terms of specific services and more on the basis that San Francisco is bearing the urban brunt and we need help," he said.

SOME AGREEMENT

Behr agreed the need for money in any city was critical but "that's not the proposal before us today."

He noted that in addition to the $13.6 million Mayor Alioto said would be derived from a commuter tax, there was some $25 million he hoped to get from a gross receipts tax.

"Tied in with this pay roll tax is the proposal that this total $38.6 million be used to reduce by some 20 per cent taxes on the property owner in San Francisco," he said.

One of his main objectives was that Marin residents, whose property taxes were already high, should be asked to reduce taxes for people who already have a comparatively lower bill to pay.

TAX QUESTIONED

Mendelsohn disputed this and said that if a commuter tax was passed, it would help to maintain property taxes at their present level in a city which, this next fiscal year, would have a record $490 million budget.

Behr questioned the legality of a commuter tax and his counterpart conceded there were differing opinions. "If we do pass this tax, we shall go into the courts and see," said Mendelsohn. It was to be an interim tax in any case, he emphasized.

In answer to a listener's question, Behr suggested one way money could be used on a more equitable basis was for certain federal taxes to be applied to particular use in cities.

Mendelsohn agreed that regional government structure might be used as one way to insure there was taxation with representation.

BAY GOVERNMENT

"I feel that the sooner we get a limited purpose regional government in the Bay Area the sooner we find alternative ways of solving the problems without a commuter tax," he said.

Behr said the tax could begin at 1 per cent but might easily climb higher because of its popularity, particularly among the people who didn't have to pay it.

He said he felt some form of regional government was "the best hope" of cities facing crisis and the commuter tax proposal did nothing but create clouds of distrust.

A recording of the program will be broadcast Sunday at 10:05 a.m.

INNOCENT VERDICT IN TOT'S SLAYING

Mrs. Goodson Is Ruled Insane At Time Of Stabbing; Judge Orders Treatment

Mary Jo Goodson, 36-year-old mother of five children, was insane when she stabbed her 3-year-old son to death in San Rafael last Dec. 30 and therefore is innocent of the crime.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court made this ruling yesterday after an hour-and-a-half trial.

Judge Wilson found the San Rafael divorcee innocent by reason of insanity. He found she is still insane and directed she be confined at Mendocino State Hospital until she recovers.

PSYCHIATRIC REPORTS

The judge's decision came after testimony by two psychiatrists that Mrs. Goodson felt she was killing her husband when she twice plunged a foot-long kitchen knife into the back of their son — and his namesake — Richard Anthony Goodson Jr.

The ex-husband, an Oakland salesman, now has custody of their other four children.

Dr. Gerald Hill, San Rafael psychiatrist who saw Mrs. Goodson in group therapy 19 days before the killing, said she stabbed her son at the climax of a psychotic episode triggered by Christmas festivities and a remembrance of things past.

MEMORIES 'HOSTILE'

"The pre-Christmas preparations brought back memories about her husband, most of which were hostile. There was a gradually increasing confusion in her mind between her husband and her son. She began moving into a psychotic stage and it probably was the homocide of her husband in her mind rather than the homocide of her son," he testified.

Mrs. Goodson does not remember the murder, Dr. Hill reported.

Dr. Hill and Dr. Walter Rapaport of Oakland said they believe Mrs. Goodson was in the midst of a "psychotic episode" when she stabbed the child. She could not comprehend that the act was wrong and in violation of the rights of others, they testified.

SANITY TEST

The legal test of sanity requires that the defendant be able to differentiate between right and wrong and understand the nature and quality of the act.

Does the fact that Mrs. Goodson wrapped her small son's body in blankets and hid it in a storage room at the apartment indicate she may have known the killing was wrong? asked Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw.

"Yes," said Dr. Hill, "but I don't think the dimension of right or wrong was comprehendable to her at the time of the act. She could have been aware that it was wrong as soon as a minute later."

Doctors Hill, Rapaport and Thomas P. Lowry of Kentfield all agreed that Mrs. Goodson is still mentally ill. Dr. Lowry testified only by written report.

TREATMENT REPORT

Doctors Rapaport and Lowry recommended she be confined in a state hospital. Dr. Hill, however, said she could be safely treated as an outpatient. He reported she was confined twice at Ross General Hospital's psychiatric unit, in 1965 and 1966.

There was no indication when he saw her in group therapy Dec. 11 that she was becoming psychotic and would kill 19 days later, he said.

Dr. Rapaport, who first interviewed Mrs. Goodson the day of the murder, recommended that she be placed somewhere where "she is protected and others are protected.

Car-Bike Crash Injures Teener

A 16-year-old boy was injured in Mill Valley yesterday evening when his bicycle collided with a car at East Blithedale Avenue and Locust Street.

Paul Van Ravenswaay, of 36 Terrace Court, Tiburon, was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises after the collision at 7:35 p.m. with a car driven by Walter S. Widmeyer, 60, of 170 Locust Street.

Police said Widmeyer was making a left turn as Van Ravenswaay approached from the other direction. The windshield of Widmeyer's car was shattered in the collision.

Stinson Group Hears Civil Defense Talk

Civil Defense official Wesley E. Chessman of Stinson Beach addressed the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department last night on civil defense. The department also checked the condition of Civil Defense stores at the Community Presbyterian Church.

It was announced an advanced first aid course will start next Thursday at the Stinson Beach Community Center, taught by Jerry Van Soest of the Marin County Fire Department. Class will start at 7:30 p.m. Five weekly sessions are scheduled and the class is open to anyone eligible to learn advanced first aid techniques.

Ferry Landing Controls Asked For Sausalito

Ferry boat landings should become a conditionally permitted use in Sausalito's waterfront zones, the Sausalito Planning Commission recommended last night.

The commission recommended the council amend the waterfront zones so the city will have some control over location of proposed ferry landings.

Harbor Carriers, Inc., has state permission for a Sausalito-San Francisco ferry run and has asked Sausalito for permission to build a landing somewhere in the city.

Under present zoning rules, the landing could be built anywhere in the waterfront zones.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

HEIGHTS — Told Planning Director Charles W. Whitehead to draw a zoning amendment to spell out the right way to measure building heights. Different measuring methods now allow a variation of several feet when measuring permissible building heights on a sloping lot.

MARINA VISTA — Discussed the Marina Vista subdivision at the end of Nevada Street, but took no action. The developer intends to present a new development plan, the commission was told.

Site Is Looted

Ladders, scaffolding, a pipe bender and motors valued at $230 were taken from the construction site of the Sinaloa Junior High School at Vineyard Road and Wilson Avenue, Novato, sometime between 6:30 p.m. Tuesday and 7:30 a.m. yesterday, Fred A. Hannah, foreman, reported yesterday to Novato police.

Hearing Set On Contract Bidding

The Independent-Journal, given incorrect information by the staff of Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, yesterday reported that his bill to permit counties to award construction contracts without public bidding when the cost of the job is under $10,000 had passed its first test in the Legislature.

The staff apparently had another bill in mind when asked about the status of the bill.

The bill will be heard by the local government committee April 29.

The present limit on county construction jobs without public bidding is $4,000.

Air Force Tests Reentry Vehicle

VANDENBERG AFB (UPI)—An experimental reentry space vehicle was sent streaking down the Air Force Western Test Range today by an Atlas E Rocket.

The launching at 12:55 a.m. PST was carried out by the 6595th Aerospace Test Wing, as part of the Advanced Ballistic Reentry Systems (ABRES) program, designed to develop more effective vehicles for Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles.

California's Pupil Boom Slows, Cuts Need Of State Bond Vote

The rate of growth of California's pupil population has slowed so much that no new state school construction bond measure may be necessary for several years, a top state aide told the Marin Federation of Republican Women.

The prediction was made by retired Army Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, director of the state General Services Department, at the organization's monthly luncheon Tuesday at Nero's Restaurant in Ignacio.

Lolli said that the last school measure, approved by voters in 1964, was based on a pupil population of 1.54 pupils per household. Instead, the ratio has worked out to about .9 of a pupil per household, he said.

The 1964 measure authorized $260 million in state general obligation bonds for loans and grants to needy school districts for school construction, site acquisition and equipment. Almost all Marin school districts qualify for the aid, which is available to districts whose bonded indebtedness exceeds 5 per cent of their assessed valuation.

No new measure will be on the statewide ballots this year, and Lolli said none may be necessary in 1970.

Lolli cautioned that his prediction was based on a study of school needs being prepared by his department. The study is almost complete, he said, and he will make recommendations to the governor by the end of the month on future needs for school construction.

William J. Wynn of the state Department of Education's Bureau of School Planning told the Independent-Journal that the 1964 funds had been expected to last four to five years (to this year or next). A spokesman for Lolli's department said $60 million is left.

A consultant to a legislative committee said that in the future the number of school districts which can qualify for state construction aid may be so small that their needs can be financed from the state's general fund.

He said the rate of school growth had dropped because of a sharp fall in the birth rate, beginning in 1957, and a decrease in immigration from other states.

The 1965 assessment reform also cut the number of districts eligible for state aid, he noted, because higher assessments resulted, lowering many districts' bonded indebtedness below 5 per cent of their assessed valuation.

Hudson's Bay Post Recalled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A plaque wasu nveiled yesterday marking the site of the Hudson's Bay Company in San Francisco in 1841 when the city was just a dusty village.

The little-known fact was brought to light at noontime when Pierre Asselin, Canadian consul general here, displayed the bronze plaque in the financial district.

Arequipa To Locate Girls Only At Larkspur Center

The Marin Foundation Friends of Arequipa yielded last night to public pressures and agreed for the time being not to locate both boys and girls in the foundation's new residence in Larkspur for troubled adolescents.

The foundation decision against housing boys at the home was announced at the regular meeting of the Larkspur Planning Commission, which had the matter on its agenda.

This had been called by former plannning commission chairman David F. Scott, "one of the most serious matters confronting Larkspur in many, many years."

City Manager Kent B. Bathurst read an opinion from City Attorney Robert W. Elliott, who said he thought the Friends of Arequipa would have to make another application for a permit for boys, because their original permit covered only girls.

Bathurst said he had been in contact with the attorney for the Friends of Arequipa and had been informed the organization would abide by the city council's rejection of a coed facility. "They say they will make an application for boys at some future time," said Bathurst.

The home for girls will be at 476 Cane Street in Larkspur. The foundation successfully operated a six-bed home at 1534 Fifth Avenue in San Rafael for three years and will house a larger number of teen-agers, 18 beds in three separate buildings, in the new home.

The Larkspur Planning Commission also:

NON-CONFORMING — Set May 7 for the first of a series of public hearing on variance extension applications from residents of single family homes in commercial districts.

UPGRADE — Heard a report from Planning Director Ronald Glander on a program to upgrade old summer bungalows in the Madrone Canyon area. The town will seek cooperation of the owners of the bungalows to install modern electrical wiring, plumbing and other improvements in the old summer houses.

Papandreou Hits Greek Dictators Despite Arrest

ATHENS (AP) — Former Premier George Papandreou defied house arrest yesterday and smuggled out an appeal for international political and economic isolation of Greece's military dictatorship.

The statement from the 80-year-old leftist leader said "solidarity and support" from nations of the "free world" would lead to the immediate overthrow of the junta that seized power in a coup April 21, 1967.

Papandreou and ex-Premier Panayiotis Canellopoulos were placed under house arrest Monday in an attempt to prevent them from issuing statements in connection with the first anniversary of the coup.

But Papandreou foiled the guards around his house and managed to smuggle out a long and defiant statement that was distributed by his followers.

To Visit LBJ

HONOLULU (UPI) — Prime Minister and Mrs. John Gorton of Australia have accepted an invitation to visit the United States May 27-28 for talks on the Vietnam war with President Johnson.

It will be Groton's first visit to the United States since becoming prime minister Jan. 10 following the drowning of Harold Holt.

The White House said today a state reception and dinner would be held May 27 by President Johnson for the Grotons.

Marin Girl Center Of Vice Probe

A 16-year-old Marin County girl, who ran away from home "because my parents didn't understand me," was the central figure in a San Francisco vice hearing this week.

The girl's testimony on her life in the Haight-Ashbury district led the San Francisco Grand Jury on Monday to vote to return an indictment against Alfred James Smith, 38 and Frederick Leon Hilliard, 37, both of San Francisco, on charges of pimping and statutory rape.

After a short stop in Sausalito, the attractive, long-haired girl said she made her way to the Haight-Ashbury district where she dressed like a hippie, wearing jeans, sandals and beads.

Drugs of all kinds —especially LSD, marijuana or amphetamine (speed) — were easy to come by, she said, "if you are a hippie type and not a square."

She once took an LSD "trip" in an apartment with birds on the wall paper, she told the grand jury. The birds flew right off, she said.

The girl said she turned to prostitution on a small scale to pay for food and lodging. She then met Smith and Hilliard in North Beach and they instructed her in the finer points of the profession, she said.

Her customers, mostly tourists, were found in the topless clubs, bars and better hotels. She gave part of her earnings to the two men, she said.

On April 8 she was arrested by police and booked into the Youth Guidance Center.

While at the center she has told juvenile officers that she is through with drugs and plans to eventually return to her family in Marin.

FBI Probes Theft Of Guns, Ammunition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The FBI is investigating the theft of more than 7,000 rounds of ammunition and some weapons from a California National Guard warehouse at San Lorenzo, Alameda County.

The FBI said yesterday that four M1 rifles and five .45 pistols were taken from the storage facility of the 749th Maintenance Battalion when the lock was forced Monday night.

Greeks Free 100

ATHENS (UPI)—The Greek government today released 100 political detainees from the Aegean islands of Yaros and Leros as a goodwill gesture before the Greek Orthodox Easter next Sunday, the official Greek news agency announced.

Klamath Town's Rebuilding Slated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Construction of a new townsite for Klamath, devastated by the December 1964 floods, will start later this month, the Army Engineers announced today.

The work, to be carried out by the Granite Construction Co. of Watsonville, calls for a general earth fill of 40 acres, plus construction of a perimeter ditch and drainage structures. About 38 acres in the townsite will be seeded.

The $1.34 million project is on the east side of a new Highway 101 section. Col. Frank C. Boerger, district engineer, said the filling and seeding of the new site just north of the old Del Norte County community will be completed by Nov. 30.

Police Relaxing

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Police are closing their substation on the beach today. They will go back to five-day work weeks after working six days a week to deal with the crush of college students who flocked to Fort Lauderdale beaches for Easter vacation.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Surgery Sometimes Helpful For Rheumatoid Arthritis

VAN DELLEN

Surgery for severe rheumatoid arthritis is gaining in popularity. The unanswered question centers about timing: "When should it be done?"

Arthritis tends to come and go; spontaneous remissions occur, and we never know when swelling and pain will subside. If surgery is contemplated, it should be done before damage is extensive. Involvement of the hands may be the exception.

RHEUMATOID arthritis varies in severity. In some, irreversible changes occur within four months; in others, it is safe to postpone surgery for several years. Some are candidates for surgery early; others never will need it.

The disorder starts in the synovial membrane that lines joint surfaces. This tissue thickens in some areas and fluid oozes into the cavities.

Finger-like projections may develop, and pieces of tissue may break loose. From here the disease spreads, eroding the bone and cartilage. The surrounding tissues may be involved secondarily.

THE SURGICAL technique (synovectomy) consists of removing the synovium before bone and cartilages are damaged. Surgery is prophylactic; it eliminates the disease process in the operated joint, but it will not prevent arthritis from developing in other joints.

Surgery is contraindicated when many joints are severely deformed. The individual also must be motivated to get well and be willing to cooperate in rehabilitation and physical therapy.

GOOD EXERCISE

E. S. writes: I love to take long walks and have always done so. Now, at age 58, my wife thinks I should slow down. Can you put her mind at ease by telling her that walking is not harmful?

REPLY

Take your wife along and show her that walking is a wonderful exercise. So long as it does not cause discomfort, it can be continued indefinitely. Walking may be combined with hobbies such as watching birds and insects and classifying trees and flowers.

NASAL POLYPS

H. S. writes: Tiny growths in my nose seem to be affecting my sense of taste and smell. Should these be treated by a physician or are they just an annoyance with which I will have to live?

REPLY

When nasal polyps are bothersome, surgical removal is necessary. Allergy plays a causative role and recurrences are discouraged by finding and eliminating the culprits.

ECZEMA OF EAR

REPLY

No, but an oil will relieve discomfort. Rash in the ear canal may stem from irritation, fungal infection, or an allergic reaction. For permanent relief, the cause must be found and eliminated.

NONSMOKER'S COUGH

C. C. S. writes: Some persons with a cough never have smoked. Do they cough because of the filthy air that city dwellers inhale?

REPLY

This is a possibility, but chronic bronchitis may also stem from infection somewhere along the respiratory passageways, including the sinuses.

Pittsburg Schools Close In Reply To Court Order

PITTSBURG (AP) — Pittsburg's two high schools, two junior highs and seven elementary schools were closed today because a judge reinstated 45 students who had been suspended for alleged vandalism.

School Supt. Charles Haworth said in a statement a few hours after he ordered the shutdown yesterday:

"The district has no alternative but to close the schools since a real danger to the personnel and property of the school district probably would result from re-admission of the suspended pupils."

Affected were 6,500 students and 350 teachers.

Acting on students' complaint that the suspension terms would be completed before they could prove their innocence, Superior Court Judge Richard Arnason ordered their reinstatement.

The school administration said the Contra Costa County jurist was "usurping responsibility" for school discipline.

The alleged incidents Arpil 5 developed as several hundred students in a memorial procession passed through the Pitts-High North Campus school cafeteria.

Officials said dishes were broken, windows smashed, furniture upended, lawn hoses slashed and Principal Sterling MacFarlane and teacher Ronald Broatch reportedly beaten. Two students were hospitalized.

Lawyer's Plea Settles Charge

Thomas E. Fontecchio, Internal Revenue Service attorney accused of striking and obstructing a policeman, cleared up his troubles with the law yesterday by pleading guilty to being a pedestrian on the highway.

The district attorney dismissed the other charges and Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. fined the 48-year-old San Rafael lawyer $23.

A Marin Municipal Court jury deadlocked Feb. 19 on a charge that Fontecchio obstructed a police officer in the line of his duty. Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said the lesser charge was brought to avoid another jury trial.

William O. Weissich, attorney for Fontecchio, had won an alternative writ in Superior Court, commanding that the battery and obstruction charges be dismissed or that Judge Goldstein show why they should not be dismissed.

School Band Will Play At Disneyland

The San Rafael High School Band will give a concert at Disneyland during a three-day tour of Southern California this weekend.

The band leaves Friday, gives a concert at Santa Maria on Friday evening, and thence to Disneyland for concert. The high school musicians will return Sunday evening.

Meanwhile, in Novato, a spring dance for adults will be held from 8:30 p.m. to midnight Saturday in the Novato High School gymnasium to raise funds to send the school's 90-piece band to Disneyland next month.

The Novato band has been invited to perform two concerts at Disneyland on May 25 and 26.

The music for Saturday's dance will be provided by the stage band, a regular part of the high school unit.

They're Struggling To Find Their Way

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Since 1957 the African continent has seen the birth of more new nations than in any comparable period of history. Thirty of them sprang from the hopes and aspirations of people exploited for centuries by white colonial powers. Today more than 170 million newly independent Africans, mostly black, are trying to find their own way in the world, governing more than 650 million square miles of territory. This dispatch provides an up-to-date look at these struggling newcomers.)

By PETER LYNCH

You can be a reporter seeking notes on "modern" Nigeria with the help of a cultured, London-educated Nigerian journalist who suddenly becomes ill as though with palsy. You discover he has had a fight with your African driver and that the driver has enlisted a "powerful medicine man" to cast a spell on him.

"Everyone with an education knows that ju ju is all rot," my companion had told me only a few days earlier. Now, under a medicine man's spell, he seemed almost too weak to lift himself from his bed, and was sweating as with fever. A doctor could find no illness.

Reluctantly my friend confessed it was the ju ju. The only cure was "an even more powerful spell." For $14 the most famous witch doctor in Lagos provided us with a granddaddy of a fetish that outhexed the first one.

Two days later the African journalist was healthy as ever, and disclaiming again any belief in ju ju. "It is my father," he explained.

"He believes even though I've told him it's nonsense. The hex got me through him."

This is one view of Black Africa in 1968, much cited by those who scoff that the wave of independence which has rolled over the black continent in the past decade has not changed, or enlightened, the African. Such critics can point to much else that is wrong in the newest nations: Nigeria is torn by murderous, tribal civil war. The loin cloth remains the chosen garb of millions. There is great poverty, assassination is a frequent instrument of policy.

A whole new society is being born, amid painful struggle and many mistakes but with ever-increasing signs of progress.

For the 30 Black African nations that have come into being since 1957, independence has been the promise fulfilled—even if the problems of self-government are as yet mostly unsolved.

In 1968, in spite of enormous obstacles, others are going forward and in many cases more rapidly than a number of observers of the continent's political convulsions believed was possible.

To understand what is happening now to some 170 million Africans in the newly independent nations—almost all of them black, some living in mud hut jungle simplicity, some in city slums, others in uneasy, stolen luxury—Europeans and Americans must avoid analogies.

The naivete of the Africans themselves has contributed to the troubles and turmoil. The long-awaited, fought-for independence was to solve all problems, cure all ills for a gateway to a better life for the Black African.

The gateway it may yet be, but few have managed to come through it.

But on the brighter side, Africa now is being ruled by Africans. If they are making mistakes—perhaps a kind word for coups, counter-coups, revolutions and corruption—then they also are learning self-government. It is an expensive education but in the long run may be the most effective.

Few, however, unless they be United Nations diplomats, can even name the new nations that have rushed to independence in the last decade. For the record they are:

Botswana, Burundi, Cameroon, Central African Republic, Chae, Congo the former French portion, Congo the embattled former Belgian colony, Dahomey, Gabon, The Gambia, Ghana, Guinea, Ivory Coast, Kenya, Lesotho, Malagasy Republic, Malawi, Mali, Mauritania, Niger, Nigeria, Rwanda, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Somali Republic, Tanzania, Togo, Uganda, Upper Volta and Zambia.

Swaziland is due to join the list this September.

Some of them were born in blood, others in peaceful transition or by an abrupt granting of freedom by their erstwhile colonial masters. All have suffered in their early struggles from either internal dissensions or big power disunity, or both. And from their inexperience.

They are, however, creating structures that could provide frameworks for strengthening and helping each other. One such framework, and the most remarkable, is the Organization of African Unity (OAU).

Headquartered in the Ethiopian capital of Addis Ababa, it was formed in 1963 to mediate disputes and promote the ideal its name implies. Its membership includes not only Black Africa, but all the independent countries of the continent except South Africa. White-ruled Rhodesia also is not a member. It has not been recognized by its African neighbors as an independent state since its unilateral declaration of independence from Britain in 1965.

The heads of state of member nations convene annually in different African countries, after the foreign ministers first meet to smooth out the agenda. Despite this, all five "summit" meetings held so far have been marred by strictly regional disputes.

The secretariat of the OAU is headed by Secretary-General Diallo Telli, a former Guinean diplomat, and includes a number of special commissions dealing with defense, economic, social, cultural, scientific and technical cooperation. A Liberation Committee is devoted to ending white rule in southern Africa. The special committees meet once every two years.

Working closely with the OAU is the Economic Commission for Africa, a United Nations body established in 1958 to further economic and social cooperation between African nations and to serve as a link between them and the specialized U.N. agencies.

Regional conferences on industrial and economic cooperation have been held in East, West and Central Africa and ECA has carried out feasibility and statistical studies and statistical analyses.

Helpful as these outside agencies may be, the obvious need is for Africans to help themselves—and they are working in that direction.

Late last year, Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania met in Arusha, Tanzia, in the shadow of Mount Kilimanjaro, to form the East African Economic community. Ethiopia, Zambia and Somalia immediately announced their intention to join.

In December, at a meeting of Eastern and Central African leaders at Kampala, Uganda, plans were drawn to extend the community into a 10-nation African common market extending south from Ethiopia and the Somali Republic to the Zambesi River that marks the border with white-ruled southern Africa, and from the Indian Ocean in the East to the Congo port of Matadi on the Atlantic.

Some say it will be more a customs union than common market—but it is a giant step.

In western Africa, the ECA held two meetings last year to discuss eventual formation of a West African Common Market and the nations involved agreed in January of this year to meet at Niamey, for a summit look at economic development plans.

If Africa moves toward government stability, unity and common markets seem slow, it must be remembered that these are very young nations. An African might well ask his continent's critics to ponder the length of time it took the historically old countries of Europe to arrive at stable governments, settle their regional and border disputes, and establish common markets.

Black Africa's Corps Of Leaders Holds Key To Dream Of Millions

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The African continent holds many riches, some now being exploited and others not yet discovered, but perhaps for the new black nations their greatest wealth lies in their great men.

It has long been argued whether such men are born or molded by the times and events that demand them. In Black Africa today there is no question of the demand—and in the more fortunate nations there also is the supply.

The problems these leaders face range widely. Some must find a way to coerce a viable economy from a poor and tiny land, while others must harness mineral and agricultural wealth to realize a land's potential.

They must fight the intangible but very real problem of disillusion, so often the concomitant of independence which did not produce instant realization of the African dream of a good life for all.

The cause of disillusion also must be fought—and foremost is the poverty of the people, whether it be in the poorest nations, such as Malawi where the annual per capital income is $41, or in comparatively rich Ghana where it is $230.

There are slums to be eradicated in the cities, mud hut villages in the hinterlands to be brought into the 20th Century.

The primitive quality of much of African life was spotlighted by Col. Jean-Bedel Bokassa, president of the Central African Republic, when he pointed out to a meeting in Kampala, Uganda, that the Ugandan capital was only about 1,000 miles from his own capital of Bangui.

Yet to get from Bangui to Kampala, he had been forced to fly to Paris. His telegrams had to go by way of Paris and London.

"The Africans cannot even keep their secrets," he said.

Times are changing, and the evidence is everywhere—such as an automobile parked beside a mud hut or a modernly miniskirted girl walking down an African street with a bundle balanced on her head as her ancestors would have carried it.

The job before the leaders of this mammoth continent is Herculean. Among those longest engaged in the spotlight is Kenya's Jomo Kenyatta. And the question most asked, and asked most fearfully, in Kenya today is after the 76-year-old Kenyatta—what?

Kenyatta, who was the "burning spear" of the Mau Mau uprisings and languished for years in British prisons because of this, has proved a remarkable friend, not only to the black Kenyans whose loyalties he holds, but also to the white population of his land.

He is dedicated to multiracism and through the force of his prestige and personality he has made it work, as he has smoothed tribal rivalries, muted discontent despite some rough economic going and made his nation's stability and economic progress a byword on a continent not famed for either. Kenya's problem is Kenyatta's age, and the question of his successor.

If Kenyatta's willingness to co-exist with whites was a surprise to those who most feared him as a black African nationalist, Malawi's President Hastings Kamuzu Banda has proved even more startling to them and to his fellow black Africans.

At the age of 13 Banda set out to walk 1,000 miles to South Africa in search of an education. On the way, after working in a Rhodesian bush clinic, he resolved to become a doctor.

After working in the South African gold fields for eight years and studying at night, he got to the United States and Indiana University. Banda received a degree from Chicago University in 1931, his MD degree from Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., in 1937, and further studied in Scotland's Edinburgh and Glasgow Universities.

Banda left London for the Gold Coast (now Ghana) in 1953, when Nyasaland, as Malawi was then called, was incorporated into the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland. In 1958 he returned to his homeland, 39 years after leaving it and unable to speak its tribal dialects. He needed interpreters to speak to his people, but the British understood him— and did not like what they heard.

Banda was jailed in Rhodesia in 1959 after the British government alleged a plot had been uncovered to massacre all white officials. He was freed in 1960 and led Malawi to independence in 1964.

Banda today is reviled by many of his fellow Africans, despite his fiery nationalism of days past, because he holds that South Africa must be recognized—and lived with—as a fact of life.

In neighboring Zambia, President Kenneth Kaunda is among the African leaders who refuses to accept South Africa, its apartheid and racial policies, as a fixed part of the African scene.

But his own landlocked country—it is almost as big as California, Nevada and West Virginia combined — and its problems are Kaunda's major concern. He is considered among the African leaders most equipped to handle problems.

At 43 Kaunda has a shock of prematurely grey hair, an amazing capacity for hard work, an unflusterable temperament and unflinching faith in humanity. The quality of the man comes through in the two heroes he upholds — India's Mahatma Gandhi and America's Abraham Lincoln.

The quality of African leaders does not depend on their attitude toward the white world. They can be hostile to it and yet effective.

African leaders often feel they must follow what is best for their own nations, whether the rest of the world—or the western part of that world—likes it or not.

One such is Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, 46 this year, a former school teacher whose strict adherence to socialist beliefs have cost him much aid from the United States, Britain and West Germany. He seems willing to pay the price.

He also seems capable of holding his divided nation together. His personal popularity and respect were evident when he made a cross-country trek to underline the importance of his socialist doctrines of austerity, self-help and nationalism. Hundreds followed him to prove their loyalty.

To understand what it means to a country such as Zambia to have 70,000 students enrolled in secondary schools, as it will by the end of the decade, it must be remembered that when the country gained independence in 1964 it held a total of 1,200 secondary school graduates.

SPLITS THE FRENCH

DeGaulle Faces Test On TV Commercials

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle has insulted the United States, flirted with the Soviet Union, blackballed Britain out of the Common Market and encouraged French Canadian separatists.

But the people of France may not stand for commercials on television.

That is the issue that has evoked arguments from Nancy to Nice and on which De Gaulle's government will stand or fall next week in a parliamentary vote.

The only advertisements allowed on the two government-operated television channels and 24-hour radio station are institutional commercials such as "Eat Cheese" and "Drink Wine."

The bill to allow television commercials along with debate over a proposed censure of the government's information policy will be in Parliament next week.

Those against television commercials say: Commercials will divert money already paid by the public to maintain national broadcasting to other uses. A license for a TV set costs $20 a year and a radio license $6.

It will squeeze off the screen the lovely still pictures of the French countryside used to fill in between programs.

French newspapers and magazines will lose money if they have to share advertising profits with the government.

Those in favor of TV commercials say: French television programs are not so excellent that more money might not help the government improve them.

Although it might take the French some time to adjust to commercials, they actually will be little different from commercials already seen at the movies. The new ads might stimulate the economy and keep taxes from rising.

Even if the plan is rejected in Parliament and De Gaulle's forces are defeated, neither De Gaulle nor his cabinet would actually be forced to resign. Under the constitution, executive and legislative branches are separate. A defeat would only mean new parliamentary elections.

School Lunches Plan Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has sent to President Johnson a bill authorizing a pilot plan for extending the school-lunch program.

If the President signs it, free lunches will be served at day-care centers and recreational facilities used by underprivileged children. The lunches also will be offered in the summer for the first time.

The Senate overturned its Agriculture Committee's attempt to kill the extension plan. The original school-lunch program was not involved in the legislation.

The bill authorizes a three-year, $96 million program.

Canada's Minister Inaugural Monday

OTTAWA (AP) — Pierre Elliott Trudeau will become Canada's prime minister Monday and says he won't announce his new Cabinet members until then.

Trudeau, who succeeds retiring Lester B. Pearson, has six vacancies in the Cabinet already, created by resignations.

Two Named To Veterans' Board

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has announced the appointment of Alfonso L. Romero, San Jose attorney, and Carl J. Johnson, deputy marshal in Los Angeles County, to four-year terms on the California Veterans' Board.

Romero, 44, a Republican, replaces Irving Klein of Santa Rosa. Johnson, 56, and also a Republican, succeeds Sidney L. Gelber of Hollywood.

Romero of Campbell, Santa Clara County, has been a partner in the San Jose law firm of Field, Romero and Weger.

Plants Barred

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The bureau of plant quarantine in the state department of agriculture reported more than 3,600 lots of prohibited plant materials were intercepted at its border checking stations during March.

Cal Aide Takes Michigan Post

BERKELEY (AP) — William B. Boyd, a University of California official who on the Berkeley campus often faced rebellious activists, resigned yesterday to become president of Central Michigan University.

Boyd, 45, came to Berkeley in August 1966 and became the chief administrative representative in dealing with student groups, in addition to other duties.

Mays A 'Pauper' Compared To Ruth

NEW YORK (AP) — Babe Ruth received an $80,000 salary from the New York Yankees in 1931. Willie Mays earned $125,000 from the San Francisco Giants in 1967.

But in terms of purchasing power, Mays' salary was worth only about one-third of Ruth's, says a college economist. Taxes and inflation are the reasons.

According to Lawrence W. Ritter, Mays would have to be paid $454,000 this year to equal Ruth's purchasing power in 1931. Mays is getting $125,000 again for 1968.

Ritter is a professor of finance at New York University and heads the department of finance at NYU's Graduate School of Business Administration. He also is the author of a book on baseball.

He made the 1931-1967 comparison in an article "Inflation: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," published yesterday by Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., New York.

"On his $80,000, Ruth paid $11,500 income taxes, giving him a take home pay of $68,500," writes Ritter. "On his salary of $125,000, Mays paid a federal income tax of $73,000, leaving $52,000 in take home pay. In addition, consumer prices today are about 2.2 times as high as they were in 1931.

"At today's prices, Mays' $52,000 take home pay will only buy what $23,600 would have bought in 1931. In terms of purchasing power, Mays' salary was worth only about a third of Ruth's.

"If Mays were to receive as much purchasing power today as Ruth did in 1931, he would have to be paid $454,000. (This would be reduced by income taxes of $303,300 to a take home pay of $150,700, which, at current prices, is what it would take to buy what Ruth could purchase with his $68,500 in 1931)."

Athletics Lose One For 'The Gipper'

JEWEL IN THE NIGHT — The Oakland Coliseum was jammed with 50,164 fans last night for the first major league baseball game ever played in Oakland as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Athletics, 4-1. (UPI Telephoto)

Baltimore Spoils Oakland's Opener

COMBINED AP & UPI

The Oakland A's couldn't even win one for the G ipper in their first game in Oakland. Before a record crowd of 50,164, including California Gov. Ronald Reagan, last night, they looked like the same old Athletics who finished in the cellar last season in Kansas Cty.

Even the presence of Reagan, who played the role of George Gipp in the movie version of Knute Rockne's life and threw out the ceremonial first pitch in this opener, couldn't inspire the A's.

The A's fans didn't have much to cheer about as Rick Monday's homer in the sixth produced and Tony Larussa's pinch-hit single in the ninth was the only other hit off Dave McNally.

HOMERS

Home runs by Boog Powell in the second inning, Mark Belanger in the third and Brooks Robinson in the sixth powered Baltimore to the victory over Oakland.

"It may take a while," said Baltimore manager Hank Bauer, "but I think one day they may have a good ball park here."

"The balls sure carry out of here," said Bauer, who as player and manager has seen just about every big league park in his time. "The short fences help, too."

The game, played in two hours and 35 minutes, was held up twice for a total of about 15 minutes. The first time was in the third inning when workmen were called out by the umpires to tamp down more dirt in front of the pitcher's mound.

FOR WATER

The second time the game was held up was to water and tamp down the dirt around home plate. There, a loose composition of synthetic clay prevented the batters from digging in their spikes.

The Oakland Coliseum measures 330 feet down the foul "lines and 385 feet to the power alleys in right and left center. Powell, the big Baltimore first baseman who doesn't need any kind of an edge to hit the ball, ripped his homer about 360 feet to right. The ball went out on a rising line and would have been a homer in nearly every park in the majors.

"You still have to hit the ball to get it out," he said.

"He will be one of our regular four starters if his arm is sound," Bauer said. "He had pitched only one inning in the last 17 days."

LUCKY

Manager Bob Kennedy of the A's said, "We were lucky to get a run," he said. "We only hit the ball hard about four times."

Kennedy said Jim Pagliaroni will take over as the regular catcher with infielder Dick Green backing him up. If Roof is out any length of time, a minor leaguer will be brought up.

A Superior Court Judge ordered Musicians Local 6 not to picket the Oakland home opener. The musicians, in a dispute over band size and playing dates, had posted pickets Tuesday.

More Than Just A Game At A's Opening Night

PLAY BALL— It was a rather sad day yesterday for Bay Area baseball fans.

First, early in the day, the New York Mets, of all people, blanked the San Francisco Giants. Listening to the Giants at bat was like listening to paint dry.

Then, last night, the Oakland Athletics made their home debut before 50,164 mortals and lost to the Baltimore Orioles and Dave McNally who pitched a two-hit, 4-1 victory. Watching the A's bat was something akin to watching grass grow.

But there were several other highlights to this colorful evening. Gov. George Gipp was there and drew the loudest booing I've heard since I walked through Fallon, Nev. But the old Gipper (nee Ronald Reagan) silenced the 50,164 Athletic Supporters by throwing a snappy strike on the ceremonial first pitch of the season. After the booing, the lovey guvvy stated: "Up until a few minutes ago I was happy to be here tonight." Then, surveying the date, he smiled: "I can hear a helluva lot of you have recently paid your taxes."

Indeed A Colorful Opener

It was indeed a colorful opener. Just before game time the stadium lights were extinguished and the crowd was asked to light a match for the singing of our national anthem. Strike up the music, professor, sort of thing. I sorta felt like the Statue of Liberty standing there with my Zippo, but it was a beautiful sight.

Thereafter it was a mis-match — the largest diamond match company in the world. A's owner Charles O. Finley literally made an ash out of himself. Would you believe the Oakland Coliseum burned to the ground? Naw, I'm only kidding. It was just a sneaky way of warding off the cold winds that came in from the direction of Candlestick Park. Horace Stoneham's greeting card.

I don't know how effective were the match burning ceremonies but when the lights came back on the umpires had on charcoal grey slacks.

Ashford Is All Show Biz

Speaking of arbiters, the American League is lucky to have Emmett Ashford. The only Negro ump in the big leagues, Ashford is colorful enough to turn a dull game into an exciting experience. He calls strikes and outs and even dusts off the plate with the flourish of a hopped-up John Barrymore.

The silence of the A's bats was deafening until the sixth inning when a guy named Rick Monday rammy-cackled a shot over the 410-foot mark in center field, I wasn't particularly worried about the score, but I wondered if Mr. Monday married Tuesday Weld, what would they call her — Tuesday Monday? I asked weekly in this day-ly paper?

Celtics, 76ers Go To Wire

BOSTON (AP) — The annual National Basketball Association showdown between the rival Philadelphia 76ers andt he Boston Celtics has come down to its final playoff game. You can take your pick of opinions on how much the home edge will mean.

"The home court doesn't mean much to these two teams, Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell said after his Celtics evened the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals 3-3 with a 114-106 victory last night. "The team that has a good night wins; it's as simple as that."

ADVANTAGE

"If the Celtics can come in there and beat us they deserve all the credit in the world, because they're going to be up against a tough basketball team," Hannum said.

"We worked all season for the home court advantage," he added. "We've still got it. We're going to have that crowd yelling for us Friday night."

The Celtics had it last night, and they made the most of it before a wildly cheering crowd of 14,780 at Boston Garden, leading virtually all the way behind the sparkling all-round play of Russell and John Havlicek.

17 POINTS

Russell scored 17 points, played a strong defensive game, and dominated the boards in his personal duel with Wilt Chamberlain, hauling in 31 rebounds. Havlicek led the Celtics with 28 points and was all over the court in a brilliant floor game.

An injury also forced his backcourt sidekick Wally Jones to the sidelines early in the second period. Jones suffered a recurrence of a chronic knee injury, but he had Hannum both said he'd probably play tomorrow night.

Vassar Girls Win

Edwards Blasts Jordan

DRAWS BOOS

Jordan listened quietly and attentively during the session in which each man spoke for 20 minutes and answered questions for another 20.

"All athletes, particularly Blacks, can be admired for their accomplishments as men. They are a source of pride and respect to every American who has watched them perform," Jordan said.

HAILS OWENS

"We've gotten past the Jesse Owens generation," Edwards said of the Negro star who won three individual gold medals at the 1936 Olympics. "It's not necessary to document Black athletes records...If it is necessary to run the 100 in less than 10 seconds to be recognized as a human being, then there are a lot of whites who wouldn't be recognized as people."

NO PROTECTION

"Talk with my runners," Jordan said.

"I don't think I'm a racist or bigoted coach," Jordan said. "I treat all my boys as fairly as possible."

Is Mike Succeeding Tough Luck Gaylord?

NEW YORK (AP) — Has Mike McCormick succeeded Gaylord Perry as the hard luck pitcher of the San Francisco Giants?

McCormick, the Cy Young Award winner at 22-10 last year, has now hurled 19 innings, giving up only three earned runs. At the same time the Giants backed him with only one run.

He hurled 13 innings against Pittsburgh last week and left with the score 1-1. The Pirates won 3-1 two innings later.

SIX INNINGS

The left-hander pitched six innings yesterday and the Giants bats were silent as the New York Mets won 3-0, bringing the National League marks of both teams to 3-3. A crowd of 52,087, largest in the majors so far this year, saw the game.

JACK HANLEY

As Mr. Mays Goes, So Go The Giants

As Willie Mays goes, so go the Giants. Generally speaking, that is true. When Willie is hitting the team perks up. When he is in a slump it is much more difficult for the team to win.

So there is considerable truth to the statement that the Giants go as Mays goes. It isn't necessary to dip into records of the past decade to prove the statement. There is substantial proof in two of the first three Giant victories of 1968.

It seemed that the Giants were doomed to defeat in their season opener at Candlestick Park April 10. They trailed 4-2 going into the ninth inning. Then Mays led off the last inning with his second hit of the game, a blistering single along the third base line. It ignited a three-run rally and the Giants won 5-4 from the Mets.

IN THE first game of the Easter doubleheader, the Giants were in a 1-1 deadlock with the Phillies going into the fifth inning. Mays broke the tie with a two-run homer that touched off a wild eight-run rally. The home run was No. 1 of 1968 for Mays and No. 565 of his career.

It wasn't Mays' fault that the Giants didn't beat the Pirates in their first meeting of the new season last Thursday. That was an overtime affair that went 15 innings with the Pirates winning 3-1 on a two-run 15th inning rally. However, the Giants should have won in 14. Mays singled with one out in the 14th and went to third on a following single by Jim Ray Hart. A fly ball would have scored him but nobody could bring him home.

ALVIN O. McBEAN had a no-hit 2-0 shutout going against the Giants Easter Saturday. Mays ended the no-hitter in the seventh inning with a leadoff single. Willie McCovey followed with a single to right field.

Mays literally invited a throw from Roberto Clemente to third base when he slowed up rounding second and ooked over his shoulder at the Pirate right fielder whose powerful throwing arm is highly regarded around the National League.

MAYS BELIEVED he could beat Clemente's throw and, indeed, he would have provided Maury Wills had not moved several feet off the bag for it. Wills made a sweeping backhand tag of Mays who actually was by Wills and starting his slide into the bag.

By drawing the throw to third from Clemente, Mays was setting up an advance to second by McCovey. Clemente was well aware of this and admitted that he hesitated momentarily before becoming convinced that he could catch Mays at third.

McCOVEY, INCIDENTALLY, did not move up while the play was being made on Mays but he did score on a single by Jack Hiatt after an infield out advanced him to second.

So even though the Pirates swept the two-game series from the Giants, Mays came very close to switching both games around. It's amazing how many times Mays is in the right position at the right moment to turn games topsy turvy.

STRANGE PLAY IN OAKLAND

Umpire Jim Honochick calls Orioles' Frank Robinson out at third base as Oakland catcher (that's right) Phil Roof puts on the tag, but Robinson is really safe. Robinson is pointing to shortstop where he claimed obstruction on the basepaths. The umpire ruled in favor of Robinson and he was awarded third base. He scored when the next batter singled. wrapper. Someday soon take your war department over to the Oakland Coliseum. It's a beautiful park — sort of like a big Christmas present with its green turf and red, synthetic clay dirt.

Not Much Gold On The Diamond

The only disappointment of the night — besides the loss by the home team — was the A's did not wear their controversial gold and Kelly green uniforms. For their maiden appearance on the West Coast, Mr. Finley ordered the team to wear white togs. As white and pure as the driven snow, but, Boy, have they drifted.

Ron Hunt, a former Met, led off with a single and reached second when shortstop Al Weis fumbled Jim Davenport's grounder. Willie McCovey walked, loading the bases, but the 24-year-old Koosman fired a third strike past Willie Mays, got Jim Hart on a pop fly and struck out Jack Hiatt.

The Mets, meanwhile, gave Koosman plenty of support. Cleon Jones homered in the second, Ed Charles doubled home Ken Boswell in the sixth and Jerry Grote doubled in the seventh and scored on Weis' single.

"I got my fast ball up to Jones when he hit the home run," said McCormick. "I meant to get it lower. I wasn't getting my curve over. I used to have a fast ball like that kid, Koosman. If I had to rely on the fast one now I'd be in trouble."

Clippers Remain Unbeaten

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unbeaten Oakland Clippers made it three in a row and handed the San Diego Toros their first defeat in the North American Soccer League last night.

The Clippers won by a 4-2 score in San Diego's Balboa Stadium. Ilija Mitic's two goals, including one that broke a 1-1 tie, paced the winners. The Toros had won three straight.

The Houston Stars routed the Toronto Falcons 5-0 in the Astrodome and the Los Angeles Wolves and the New York Generals battled to a 1-1 tie in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena in the other scheduled NASL games.

Dieter Pereau's goal gave New York the lead over Los Angeles, but the Wolves tied it on Carlos Metidieri's line drive shot in the 42nd minute of play.

A turnout of 2,716 saw the game at the Rose Bowl. Attendance at San Diego was 2,518 and in the Astrodome 2,434.

N.L. Club Owners To Talk Expansion

CHICAGO (AP) — National League baseball club owners will meet tomorrow apparently intent on selecting two new franchises and deciding whether to play catch-up with the American League on start of a 12-club circuit.

The American League last fall approved expansion to 12 clubs in 1969, reviving a Kansas City franchise to compensate for the A's switch to Oakland this season and adding Seattle as a second new member.

GROUND RULES

Warren Giles, National League president, earlier this week said the meeting was aimed only at setting down ground rules to five cities seeking the two new franchises for operation not later than 1970.

But one N.L. club executive said "there could be some definite action because time is getting short."

Although Giles said he expected no major action by the N.L. club owners, urgency could be prompted by the fact the American League has a special meeting scheduled in Chicago next Thursday. Approval may be given then to a proposed controversial divisional split of the 12-club line-up in 1969 with a championship playoff.

This would confront the National League with an overshadowing of its own pennant race by the A.L. playoffs and mess up of scheduling, particularly the World Series buildup, under the present 10-club N.L. line-up.

The National League previously voted to expand not later than 1970, but this could be reconsidered by the powerful three-man expansion committee which will report to the club owners tomorrow.

O'Malley and Hofheinz are particularly involved in the force play caused by the A.L.'s jump to Oakland this year and to Seattle in 1969. They were left with San Diego and Dallas-Fort Worth to consider as prime expansion candidates — and also territorial rivals to the Dodgers and Astros.

Mrs. Vincent Among Winners

Defending champion Mrs. Charles Vincent took another giant stride toward her second straight title yesterday by defeating Mrs. Mark Allen in the second round of the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club's Spring Handicap Championship Tournament at the Novato course.

Mrs. Vincent will resume her quest next Tuesday when the quarter-finals will be played.

Mrs. William May d. Mrs. Robert Boggs, 3 and 2; Mrs. Roy Enos d. Mrs. Donald Warwick, 1 up; Mrs. Alton Edwards d. Margaret Jones, 3 and 1; Mrs. Al Lense d. Mrs. Lew Baysinger, 1 up; Mrs. Charles Royce d. Mrs. Roger Williams, 2 up; Mrs. Charles Vincent d. Mrs. Mark Allen, 4 and 2; Mrs. William Sparrow d. Mrs. Willis Brady, 4 and 2; Mrs. John Clifford d. Mrs. Joel Hamby, default.

49ers Sign Two No. 6 Draftees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League signed two sixth round draft choices yesterday — Leo Johnson of Tennessee State and Bill Belk of Maryland State.

Johnson, 6-1, 193 pounds, will be tried as a receiver or a defensive back. Belk, 6-3, 242 pounds, is a defensive end.

Baseball Death

A Durable Team From Redwood

By GARY TISCHLER

If you take a look at the top performances in this year's track and field season, you will get a good idea where Redwood High School's strength lies.

The Giants, leading the Marin County Athletic League with an unbeaten record, have best efforts in two of the three distance events and three out of five field events.

The Giants are no better than third in the hurdles, and eighth in the 100, seventh in the 220 and fifth in the 440. They seem to be durable.

Wayne Horiuchi, only a sophomore, has the best mile effort, by a tenth of a second, with a 4:31.7, just a shade better than Tam's Randy Harness, who has turned in a 4:31.8.

Most of the other events are not that close, although in the 220, Bob Peterson of San Rafael has a 22.0 on a straight track while Tam speedster Alan Lee has a 22.1 on a curve. Lee also has the best time in the 100 at 9.8.

Lowell Harris of Terra Linda is easily the best hurdler in the MCAL with top times in both the 120 highs (14.6) and the 180 lows (19.6).

San Rafael has three other best efforts in addition to Peterson. Dave Bariski's 51.6 in the 440 tops the field while Paul Vanderbilt's 12-6 in the pole vault and Herb Rowland's 21-5 in the long jump are top efforts.

The Redwood domination in the field events is spearheaded by Bob Ballou in the shot (50-7) and high jump (6-0) where he is tied with Floyd Jackson of Tamalpais.

Judd Pillar, another Giant, has the best discus effort at 146 feet. The relays are split between San Rafael and Tamalpais, with the Bulldogs taking the 440 and the Indians the mile.

SPEAKING OF bests and records and things like that, only two Tamalpais varsity records have survived into the sixties.

That's the 12-6 in the pole vault, going all the way back to 1933 when it was set by Bill Peters, and the 50.2 in the 440-dash, set by Willie Hector, now head grid coach for the Indians, back in 1956.

One long-standing Class B record is still around. That's Bill Knapp's 11-6 in the pole vault, dating back to 1936. Also surviving is Gene Clark's 9.0 in 70 high hurdles, set in 1955.

NOVATO BASEBALL coach Bob Aune viewed Terra Linda's 6-4 comeback win over Redwood with a certain amount of pleasure.

His Hornets, who have already lost to Redwood, still have two cracks at Terra Linda. Both Novato and Redwood are 3-1 in the league standings.

Terra Linda coach Jess Payan was also happy about the Trojan victory.

"We didn't play as well as we have," he said. "They hit Mike (Timmel) pretty good for a while, but he settled down. It was another team effort."

Ref To Become NFL Supervisor Of Officials

NEW YORK (AP) — Art McNally a National Football League referee since 1959, has been appointed the NFL's supervisor of officials.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said yesterday that McNally an Mel Hein, the American Football League's supervisor of officials, will operate under the direction of Mark Duncan in the plan of organization for major pro football.

Duncan has been NFL supervisor of officials since 1964.

McNally, 42, has been director of athletics at Edison High School in Philadelphia and a basketball official in the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

BOWLING TIPS

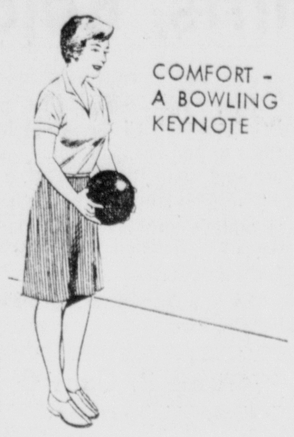
MARION LADEWIG



COMFORT - A BOWLING KEYNOTE

The preferred methods of bowling and my tips here should be of help as a guide, but no bowler should feel that he or she must obey all the rules to the very letter. If something we recommend just doesn't feel comfortable after a thorough try, feel free to modify the advice. But do give it a try first. Comfort is important for any sport. If we lose sight of that, we forget the whole purpose of the game, and that is recreation. Slump a little, if you must. Don't distribute your weight evenly on both feet if it really bothers you. Relax. Have fun.

A Softball Tourney In San Rafael

The tourney, sponsored by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department, will feature six teams in a double-elimination knockout. Proceeds from the tourney will go to the San Rafael Swim Club.

Tomorrow's opener at Albert Field will have Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo meeting the Coast Merchants of Petaluma at 7:30 p.m., to be followed by a battle between Paul Koss Supply of San Francisco and Concord Disposal at 9 o'clock. Good Spot of Santa Rosa meets the winner of the first game at 3 p.m. Saturday and Hayward Ford takes on the winner of the second game at 6 p.m.

JACK HANLEY

As Mr. Mays Goes, So Go The Giants

As Willie Mays goes, so go the Giants. Generally speaking, that is true. When Willie is hitting the team perks up. When he is in a slump it is much more difficult for the team to win.

So there is considerable truth to the statement that the Giants go as Mays goes. It isn't necessary to dip into records of the past decade to prove the statement. There is substantial proof in two of the first three Giant victories of 1968.

It seemed that the Giants were doomed to defeat in their season opener at Candlestick Park April 10. They trailed 4-2 going into the ninth inning. Then Mays led off the last inning with his second hit of the game, a blistering single along the third base line. It ignited a three-run rally and the Giants won 5-4 from the Mets.

IN THE first game of the Easter doubleheader, the Giants were in a 1-1 deadlock with the Phillies going into the fifth inning. Mays broke the tie with a two-run homer that touched off a wild eight-run rally. The home run was No. 1 of 1968 for Mays and No. 565 of his career.

It wasn't Mays' fault that the Giants didn't beat the Pirates in their first meeting of the new season last Thursday. That was an overtime affair that went 15 innings with the Pirates winning 3-1 on a two-run 15th inning rally. However, the Giants should have won in 14. Mays singled with one out in the 14th and went to third on a following single by Jim Ray Hart. A fly ball would have scored him but nobody could bring him home.

ALVIN O. McBEAN had a no-hit 2-0 shutout going against the Giants Easter Saturday. Mays ended the no-hitter in the seventh inning with a leadoff single. Willie McCovey followed with a single to right field.

Mays literally invited a throw from Roberto Clemente to third base when he slowed up rounding second and ooked over his shoulder at the Pirate right fielder whose powerful throwing arm is highly regarded around the National League.

MAYS BELIEVED he could beat Clemente's throw and, indeed, he would have provided Maury Wills had not moved several feet off the bag for it. Wills made a sweeping backhand tag of Mays who actually was by Wills and starting his slide into the bag.

By drawing the throw to third from Clemente, Mays was setting up an advance to second by McCovey. Clemente was well aware of this and admitted that he hesitated momentarily before becoming convinced that he could catch Mays at third.

McCOVEY, INCIDENTALLY, did not move up while the play was being made on Mays but he did score on a single by Jack Hiatt after an infield out advanced him to second.

So even though the Pirates swept the two-game series from the Giants, Mays came very close to switching both games around. It's amazing how many times Mays is in the right position at the right moment to turn games topsy turvy.

STRANGE PLAY IN OAKLAND

Umpire Jim Honochick calls Orioles' Frank Robinson out at third base as Oakland catcher (that's right) Phil Roof puts on the tag, but Robinson is really safe. Robinson is pointing to shortstop where he claimed obstruction on the basepaths. The umpire ruled in favor of Robinson and he was awarded third base. He scored when the next batter singled. wrapper. Someday soon take your war department over to the Oakland Coliseum. It's a beautiful park — sort of like a big Christmas present with its green turf and red, synthetic clay dirt.

Not Much Gold On The Diamond

The only disappointment of the night — besides the loss by the home team — was the A's did not wear their controversial gold and Kelly green uniforms. For their maiden appearance on the West Coast, Mr. Finley ordered the team to wear white togs. As white and pure as the driven snow, but, Boy, have they drifted.

One final thought: If you're amazed that 50,164 intelligent persons would spend an evening watching a second division team like the A's, look at it this way: Their manager is named Bobby Kennedy and one of their coaches is Joseph Paul DiMaggio. And a guy named Ronald Reagan threw out the first pitch. . . .

GIANTS

Most of the Giants' fireworks were in the first inning off lefthander Jerry Koosman.

Ron Hunt, a former Met, led off with a single and reached second when shortstop Al Weis fumbled Jim Davenport's grounder. Willie McCovey walked, loading the bases, but the 24-year-old Koosman fired a third strike past Willie Mays, got Jim Hart on a pop fly and struck out Jack Hiatt.

The Mets, meanwhile, gave Koosman plenty of support. Cleon Jones homered in the second, Ed Charles doubled home Ken Boswell in the sixth and Jerry Grote doubled in the seventh and scored on Weis' single.

"I got my fast ball up to Jones when he hit the home run," said McCormick. "I meant to get it lower. I wasn't getting my curve over. I used to have a fast ball like that kid, Koosman. If I had to rely on the fast one now I'd be in trouble."

Clippers Remain Unbeaten

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unbeaten Oakland Clippers made it three in a row and handed the San Diego Toros their first defeat in the North American Soccer League last night.

The Clippers won by a 4-2 score in San Diego's Balboa Stadium. Ilija Mitic's two goals, including one that broke a 1-1 tie, paced the winners. The Toros had won three straight.

The Houston Stars routed the Toronto Falcons 5-0 in the Astrodome and the Los Angeles Wolves and the New York Generals battled to a 1-1 tie in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena in the other scheduled NASL games.

Pepe Dill booted in two goals to lead Houston as goalie Leif Neilson chalked up his second shutout of the season for the Stars.

Dieter Pereau's goal gave New York the lead over Los Angeles, but the Wolves tied it on Carlos Metidieri's line drive shot in the 42nd minute of play.

N.L. Club Owners To Talk Expansion

CHICAGO (AP) — National League baseball club owners will meet tomorrow apparently intent on selecting two new franchises and deciding whether to play catch-up with the American League on start of a 12-club circuit.

The American League last fall approved expansion to 12 clubs in 1969, reviving a Kansas City franchise to compensate for the A's switch to Oakland this season and adding Seattle as a second new member.

GROUND RULES

Warren Giles, National League president, earlier this week said the meeting was aimed only at setting down ground rules to five cities seeking the two new franchises for operation not later than 1970.

But one N.L. club executive said "there could be some definite action because time is getting short."

Although Giles said he expected no major action by the N.L. club owners, urgency could be prompted by the fact the American League has a special meeting scheduled in Chicago next Thursday. Approval may be given then to a proposed controversial divisional split of the 12-club line-up in 1969 with a championship playoff.

This would confront the National League with an overshadowing of its own pennant race by the A.L. playoffs and mess up of scheduling, particularly the World Series buildup, under the present 10-club N.L. line-up.

The National League previously voted to expand not later than 1970, but this could be reconsidered by the powerful three-man expansion committee which will report to the club owners tomorrow.

A unanimous vote is needed by the league to field 12 teams next year.

O'Malley and Hofheinz are particularly involved in the force play caused by the A.L.'s jump to Oakland this year and to Seattle in 1969. They were left with San Diego and Dallas-Fort Worth to consider as prime expansion candidates — and also territorial rivals to the Dodgers and Astros.

Yesterday's second round results:

Mrs. William May d. Mrs. Robert Boggs, 3 and 2; Mrs. Roy Enos d. Mrs. Donald Warwick, 1 up; Mrs. Alton Edwards d. Margaret Jones, 3 and 1; Mrs. Al Lense d. Mrs. Lew Baysinger, 1 up; Mrs. Charles Royce d. Mrs. Roger Williams, 2 up; Mrs. Charles Vincent d. Mrs. Mark Allen, 4 and 2; Mrs. William Sparrow d. Mrs. Willis Brady, 4 and 2; Mrs. John Clifford d. Mrs. Joel Hamby, default.

49ers Sign Two No. 6 Draftees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League signed two sixth round draft choices yesterday — Leo Johnson of Tennessee State and Bill Belk of Maryland State.

Johnson, 6-1, 193 pounds, will be tried as a receiver or a defensive back. Belk, 6-3, 242 pounds, is a defensive end.

Baseball Death

A Durable Team From Redwood

By GARY TISCHLER

If you take a look at the top performances in this year's track and field season, you will get a good idea where Redwood High School's strength lies.

The Giants, leading the Marin County Athletic League with an unbeaten record, have best efforts in two of the three distance events and three out of five field events.

The Giants are no better than third in the hurdles, and eighth in the 100, seventh in the 220 and fifth in the 440. They seem to be durable.

Wayne Horiuchi, only a sophomore, has the best mile effort, by a tenth of a second, with a 4:31.7, just a shade better than Tam's Randy Harness, who has turned in a 4:31.8.

Most of the other events are not that close, although in the 220, Bob Peterson of San Rafael has a 22.0 on a straight track while Tam speedster Alan Lee has a 22.1 on a curve. Lee also has the best time in the 100 at 9.8.

Lowell Harris of Terra Linda is easily the best hurdler in the MCAL with top times in both the 120 highs (14.6) and the 180 lows (19.6).

San Rafael has three other best efforts in addition to Peterson. Dave Bariski's 51.6 in the 440 tops the field while Paul Vanderbilt's 12-6 in the pole vault and Herb Rowland's 21-5 in the long jump are top efforts.

The Redwood domination in the field events is spearheaded by Bob Ballou in the shot (50-7) and high jump (6-0) where he is tied with Floyd Jackson of Tamalpais.

Judd Pillar, another Giant, has the best discus effort at 146 feet. The relays are split between San Rafael and Tamalpais, with the Bulldogs taking the 440 and the Indians the mile.

Todd Norris' 2:02.9 in the 880 rounds out the best half-mile performance.

SPEAKING OF bests and records and things like that, only two Tamalpais varsity records have survived into the sixties.

That's the 12-6 in the pole vault, going all the way back to 1933 when it was set by Bill Peters, and the 50.2 in the 440-dash, set by Willie Hector, now head grid coach for the Indians, back in 1956.

One long-standing Class B record is still around. That's Bill Knapp's 11-6 in the pole vault, dating back to 1936. Also surviving is Gene Clark's 9.0 in 70 high hurdles, set in 1955.

NOVATO BASEBALL coach Bob Aune viewed Terra Linda's 6-4 comeback win over Redwood with a certain amount of pleasure.

His Hornets, who have already lost to Redwood, still have two cracks at Terra Linda. Both Novato and Redwood are 3-1 in the league standings.

Terra Linda coach Jess Payan was also happy about the Trojan victory.

"We didn't play as well as we have," he said. "They hit Mike (Timmel) pretty good for a while, but he settled down. It was another team effort."

Ref To Become NFL Supervisor Of Officials

NEW YORK (AP) — Art McNally a National Football League referee since 1959, has been appointed the NFL's supervisor of officials.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said yesterday that McNally an Mel Hein, the American Football League's supervisor of officials, will operate under the direction of Mark Duncan in the plan of organization for major pro football.

Duncan has been NFL supervisor of officials since 1964.

McNally, 42, has been director of athletics at Edison High School in Philadelphia and a basketball official in the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

BOWLING TIPS

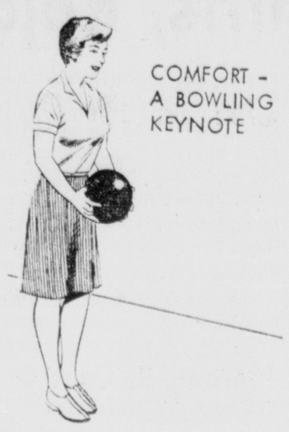
MARION LADEWIG



COMFORT - A BOWLING KEYNOTE

The preferred methods of bowling and my tips here should be of help as a guide, but no bowler should feel that he or she must obey all the rules to the very letter. If something we recommend just doesn't feel comfortable after a thorough try, feel free to modify the advice. But do give it a try first. Comfort is important for any sport. If we lose sight of that, we forget the whole purpose of the game, and that is recreation. Slump a little, if you must. Don't distribute your weight evenly on both feet if it really bothers you. Relax. Have fun.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Boog: 'A's Have Hitter's Park'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore's Boog Powell says the new Oakland Coliseum is a hitter's park, but his teammate Dave McNally made it something less than that for the new tenants.

"The ball seems to carry well here," said Powell after he socked a homer that helped the Orioles to a 4-1 victory over the Oakland Athletics in the first game played in the new edifice. "I'd like to play here all the time."

But McNally, who limited the Athletics to two hits, understandably noticed some advantages for the pitchers.

"I don't think there'll be any cheap home runs here," the young left-hander said. "You still have to hit the ball to get it out."

McNally held the Athletics hitless until Rick Monday homered leading off the sixth and after that the only Oakland hit was Tony La Russa's single in the ninth. He was promptly erased in a double play. A crowd of 50,164 watched the opener.

"We were lucky to get a run," said Athletics' Manager Bob Kennedy. "We only hit the ball hard about four times."

The Orioles hit the ball hard at least three times and they all ended up out of the park with Brooks Robinson and Mark Belanger homering along with Powell.

In other American League games, New York beat California 3-2, Minnesota crushed Washington 13-1, Detroit topped Cleveland 4-3 in 10 innings and Boston shut out Chicago 2-0.

Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer was cheered by McNally's performance. A big star for the 1966 pennant-winning Orioles, McNally had arm troubles last year and finished with a 7-7 record.

"He will be one of our four regular starters if his arm is sound," said Bauer.

Mickey Mantle scored one run and drove in another and the Yankees survived Rick Reichardt's two-run homer in the ninth to beat the Angels before a home-opening crowd of 20,069. Rookie Stan Bahnsen, had blanked California on five hits until the ninth.

Harmon Killebrew's third homer of the young season highlighted the Twins' route over the Senators before 22,926 in the first Minnesota game at home. Cesar Tovar and Jackie Hernandez also homered and Jim Merritt handcuffed Washington on six hits.

Willie Horton hit a two-run homer with two out in the 10th inning to give the Tigers the triumph after Cleveland had gone ahead in the top of the extra inning. Jim Price's two-out single in the ninth drove in the run that tied the game.

Dick Ellsworth's five-hitter sent the White Sox to their fifth straight loss of the season and Carl Yastrzemski homered in the first inning. The homer was Yaz' fourth. It was Ellsworth's secnd straight victory and two-thirds of the entire Red Sox' victory total.

MARIN-CAL ACE — Redwood High School product Scott Murphy is the top University of California pitcher as the Golden Bears head into Pac-8 play. Murphy, a sophomore, has a 4-1 record, with only a 3-2 loss to USF marring his otherwise perfect record.

Marin Stars Rated Best Cal Pitchers

A pair of Marin County residents, sophomore Scott Murphy and freshman Greg Tellis, have compiled the best won-lost pitching records on their respective teams at University of California at Berkeley.

Murphy, a San Rafael product, has roared off to a 4-1 won-lost record, easily the best among starters. Along the way he has subdued St. Mary's, San Jose State, Utah State, and Cal State Hayward. His only loss was a 3-2 defeat at the hands of USF, in the second game of the season.

Tellis, meanwhile, has pitched near-perfect ball as the ace of the powerful California freshmen. In 51 innings of work, he has compiled a 5-1 record, with 60 strikeouts and a fantastic 0.52 earned run average.

Tellis, who attended Lick-Wilmerding, Tamalpais and Andover high schools, has walked but 15 men, giving up 26 hits. And in league play, Greg's ERA is a microscopic 0.22.

Varsity Coach George Wolfman will be counting on Murphy in Pacific-8 play, which opens this weekend. Murphy is expected to see action when the Bears host UCLA in a doubleheader Saturday, beginning at noon on Berkeley's Evans Diamond.

The Cubs, 17-2 on the season, are in the home stretch of Bay Area Freshman League play. With an 11-1 record, Coach Doug Weiss' club has a two-game edge on rivals Stanford and Santa Clara.

Marin Catholic Baseballers Win

Mark Carbone's two-run triple was the big blow in a six-run fourth inning that carried the Marin Catholic High School Wildcats to a 6-5 victory over Cardinal Newman High of Santa Rosa in a non-league baseball game yesterday at Marin Catholic.

Pitcher Paul Dillman also tripled home a run while Tim Hearn had a one-run double and Roger Offenbach singled home a tally. Tom Olson was credited with the sixth rbi on a ground out.

Marin's season won-lost record now is 8-8.

Wind Shifts, Rojas Blows Up Storm

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

When the wind shifts his way, little Cookie Rojas can blow up a big storm.

"I hit home runs only in hurricanes," said the slender second baseman, who cracked a game-winning, two-run homer last night as the Philadelphia Phillies ended a six-game tailspin by edging Don Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2.

Rojas' fifth inning shot off Drysdale enabled the struggling Phils to pull out their home opener and snap their longest losing streak since 1964, when a ten-game September skid cost them the National League pennant.

The New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates also captured their home openers in impressive fashion, the Mets trimming San Francisco 3-0 behind rookie left-hander Jerry Koosman and the Pirates smothering Houston 13-4 with a 17-hit barrage. Cincinnati nipped St. Louis 4-3 in 12 innings and Atlanta blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0 in other National League action.

The Phillies trailed 2-1 when Tony Taylor stroked a two-out single in the fifth and Rojas slammed a 3-2 pitch into the lower center field seats. "I was trying to punch the ball for a hit," said Rojas, whose first 1968 homer gave him a six-year career total of 17. "With a runner on first and Johnny Callison coming up I just wanted to keep it going.

"He gave me a high fast ball and I punched at it. It got up in the air and the wind did the rest. We were lucky the wind shifted later or Jim Lefebvre's shot in the eighth would have gone out."

Manager Gene Mauch lifted southpaw Woody Fryman with two Dodgers on in the eighth after center fielder Tony Gonzalez raced to the wall and gloved Lefebvre's 400-foot drive. Reliever Dick Farrell then came on to preserve Fryman's first victory as a Phillie.

A six-run uprising in the third inning keyed the Pirates' romp over Houston before a Forbes Field crowd of 30,779. Ex-reliever Al McBean, given a commanding early lead, went the distance for his second victory without a loss.

Maury Wills and Jerry May led the Pittsburgh attack with three hits apiece.

Lee May drilled a bases-loaded single in the 12th, breaking a 3-3 tie at Cincinnati and nullifying five hits—including a two-run homer—by the Cardinals' Lou Brock. May delivered the winning hit off reliever Ron Willis, who had filled the bases with a pair of intentional walks after Pete Rose led off with a double and took third on a ground out.

Phil Niekro, the Braves' knuckleball artist, stopped the Cubs on four hits for his second triumph in as many decisions. Felipe Alou's third inning single drove in the only run Niekro needed and Hank Aaron provided insurance with a seventh inning homer.

World's Finest Bourbon a 173-Year-Old Secret

CHICAGO, ILL.—Before you can call yourself the world's finest anything—you'd better have a case in your favor.

Jim Beam Bourbon has that "case."

The whole matter started with Jacob Beam—who would be 200 years old this year—and a secret he discovered.

The secret, in the case of Jim Beam Bourbon, goes back to 1795, and it is still hush-hush today. The secret lay in the heart of Kentucky where there was, and is today, the right combination for pleasure. The right land. The right climate: the perfect Bourbon formula.

In north central Kentucky, Jacob Beam found clean iron-free water—water that came from limestone springs considered the very finest. Beam set out to make Bourbon in this rolling country; and he added his own special ingredient: pride.

Six Generation Formula

The pride of this first Beam distiller has been carried through six generations, now. Every glass of today's Beam Bourbon holds the best from nature and the pride that was passed on from Jacob to David to David M. to Colonel James to T. Jeremiah to Baker and Booker Noe—over a span of 173 years.

Russians claim credit for Beam formula

WASHINGTON—Word from the Kremlin today has startled the Bourbon-making world. Unreliable sources from Moscow state that Bourbon is not an American spirit but, in fact, a Russian one.

Not so say the Russians. They insist that Bourbon was actually discovered 10 years earlier by Ivan Chekkakoff in a little town called Vladivostok.

"They further state that the famous Beam formula is nothing more than a copy of the Chekkakoff stuff.

However, they did admit they have been importing substantial amounts of clear, iron-free water from limestone springs in north central Kentucky.

Idle Boast?

American sources decline to comment except to say that Bourbon will probably be on the moon 10 years before vodka will.

for example, Uncle collected over 2.8 billion dollars in taxes from the sale of liquor—at the rate of $10.50 per gallon.

JIM BEAM BOURBON— MAKING NEWS SINCE 1795

CLERMONT, KY.—173 years ago Jacob Beam started making Beam Bourbon here in Kentucky. It is still being made here today. And still by the Beams.

Along with inspired skills, the making of a Bourbon like Beam requires an unusual combination of land, climate and natural materials. And it's all here, in north central Kentucky.

Reporter Discovers New Scent-sation

Our man in Kentucky finally reported in—after three weeks of silence. We sent him down there to take a look at Bourbon.

He told us yesterday that the secret of good Bourbon had been under his nose all the time.

He got to T. Jeremiah Beam a couple of days ago and Beam showed him a very simple test.

"Pour a little Jim Beam in the palms of your hid the fifth gener- iler. "Then rub your gether briskly and to your nose."

Hub Softball Team Plans Busy Season

Sohner Tree Service softballers of San Anselmo will begin tournament and league competition during the next few weeks of a season which promises to be the most active in the team's 10-year history.

The Treemen, who recently concluded their practice season by sweeping a twin-bill from 1966 State Champion Stornetta's Dairy of Napa, posted a 7-3 won-lost practice slate.

Sohner will play in three "A" leagues (Petaluma, Santa Rosa and the Golden Gate Traveling League) and will compete in at least five tournaments between now and late August.

Sohner will field a team this season which greatly resembles the club that posted a 43-18 mark last year.

The pitching staff is again headed by Morey Swarm, a tall righthander who is considered among the best in Northern California. Swarm had a 3-1 practice record which included shutouts over Half Moon Bay and Alameda.

The retirement of shortstop Ron Jerome has caused the infield to be revamped. Newcomer Harry Clifford has taken over the first base job, last year's first-sacker Nolan Wilson has moved to second, Ron McCamish has gone to shortstop and Milt Hain still mans the third base position.

Wild Boar Hunting Story Makes Scribe Yearn For A Try At It

STEVENS

Enthusiasm is contagious. I heard a story yesterday that caused me to yearn to hunt the always dangerous wild boar. The teller was the renowned hunter from East Bay, Mel Topance. If there are any more superlatives in the English language, I'm sure Mel would have used them.

"Mark (Mel's son) and I arrived at the headquarters of the Dye Creek Preserve, Thursday. At 4:30 a.m. we met our guide, Dan Patten; had a cowboy's breakfast (not recommended for anyone on a diet.) We started hunting and about three hours later we spotted a grizzled old boar. I took aim at the running target and sent two shots at him with my 375 H&H, and he keeled over.

"STEVE, YOU never have seen such a wicked looking head. The beast was a sure trophy, with the longest tusks I had ever seen. Coal black without a pound of surplus fat. (Too bad the flesh of these oldsters is practically unchewable.) My boar weighed an estimated 225 pounds. No dogs are used on these hunts. It is done like an African safari, a good pair of eyes and binoculars are used in spotting. A jeep furnished transportation and wild boar furnish the excitement."

About every break in the reporting, Mel raved about the wonderful setup at the Dye Creek Preserve.

"THEY TREAT you like visiting royalty. Even have sheets on the comfortable single beds. The very atmosphere is friendly, the scenery is magnificent and the lowlands are populated with deer, pheasant, dove and quail. We jumped rabbits and other upland game.

"For a once-in-a-lifetime hunt for the genuine wild boar, you have an experienced guide. The hunt is for two days, and the cost is surprisingly low for what you get. For the two-day safari, including the guide, with meals and accommodations, the fee is only $65 per day. Reservations are always required. For information or reservations write or call: Dye Creek Preserve, P.O. Box 308, Red Bluff, Calif.

"ALSO deserving congratulations are the McCormicks — Dad Ed, and son Mike. Guide Don Smith jeeped for the two Orindans and young Mike shot an identical twin to my head. The wild pigs are coming down to the lowlands, so the hunt on the second day was in that terrain."

Today is Thursday, April 18, the 109th day of 1968 with 257 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1775 Paul Revere began his ride through the Massachusetts countryside, calling, "The British are coming."

In 1906 the San Francisco earthquake began. When it ended three days later, 500 persons were dead.

A thought for the day: British statesman John Selden said, "they that govern the most, make the least noise."

TIME AND TIDE

DIAMOND SHIFT

West led the king of clubs and shifted to a diamond. Robert Jordan, of the U. S. team, won with the ace of diamonds and led his other club.

West took the ace of clubs and led his singleton spade to dummy's ace. Jordan now led the queen of clubs from dummy. East discarded a spade, since a ruff would cost his side a trump trick; and South also discarded a spade.

Declarer led two more high clubs from dummy, discarding more spades when East refused to ruff. Jordan then cashed the king of hearts and led a low heart from dummy, finessing with the ten to West's jack.

West had to return a diamond (he had nothing else), and declarer discarded dummy's losing spade. Jordan easily made the rest, losing only two clubs and one trump.

SPEAK UP

Now you have your chance to speak up. What went wrong? Or do you approve of everything that went on? Decide for yourself before you read on.

West made a fatal error when he took the ace of clubs at the third trick. He should play low, allowing East to ruff.

RETURNS TRUMP

East returns a trump, and South cannot get 10 tricks. If South tries to ruff out dummy's clubs, East gets in with a spade and leads another trump.

It's unusual to gain by forcing your partner to ruff and thus waste his trump trick; and maybe that's why the actual West player didn't find the right play. As a kibitzer, however, you should have seen the best defense. Did you?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 10 9 5 2
♥ A 10 3 2
♦ A 10
♣ 8 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention.

This asks partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards if he has one. If partner does so, you will raise to game. If he bids two diamonds (denying a major suit), you will bid two spades.

Portfolio Choices For Young Parents

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We're young parents of two small children. My husband carries ample insurance according to your standard and we have in reserve about $8,000 in cash. Should our savings from now on go into common stocks? We're thinking ahead to college for the children and retirement for ourselves. Should we follow a particular stock-buying program? — B. J.

A. I congratulate you both on an excellent start toward accomplishing your two major objectives. Your backlog of insurance and savings appears satisfactory, so I think you are justified in placing future spare funds in common stocks. I would definitely follow a particular stock-buying program.

Since your objectives are set for many years ahead, I would concentrate entirely on growth, buying only those issues which seem capable of moving ahead faster than the economy as a whole, in those industries where the growth factor is strong.

I would include such stocks as American Home Products, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust, IBM, Marathon Oil, Plough, Sears, Roebuck and others regularly mentioned here.

Q. To settle a neighborhood argument, please tell me where my money goes when I buy stock in the open market? Does any of it revert to the company? — E. L.

A. Except for brokerage fees and taxes, the money you pay for your stock is forwarded to the investor who formerly owned it. Your broker takes care of this as part of the paper work that has been making recent headlines and that put the New York and American exchanges on several short trading weeks not too long ago.

The company receives its money only once — when it sells the shares publicly in return for funds to operate its business. This initial sale usually takes place through a process called underwriting.

One or more investment bankers, for a fee, sell the company's stock to the public at a stated price. After that the shares trade between buyers and sellers through brokers and dealers.

Seventh Day: Stocks Still Going Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today for the seventh straight session.

Gains of several points were made by Schenley (new), Raytheon, Polaroid and Xerox.

News that their plans to merge had been terminated led to a temporary trading halt in Amsted Industries and U.S. Gypsum. Amstead reopened on a block of 68,000 shares, down 17¾ points at 47, and U.S. Gypsum resumed trading on a block of 13,000 shares, up 4¼ at 85.

Sunasco, up 2¼ at 12⅜; McDonnell Douglas, up ¼ at 45⅞; Occidental Petroleum, up ⅜ at 39⅛; Schenley (new), up 5 at 53¾; Gulf & Western, off 1¼ at 43⅞; International Minerals, up 2¼ at 24½; and Allies-Chalmers, up 2⅛ at 32⅝.

Gains outnumbered losses by a good margin but the Dow Jones industrial average, after showing a loss all morning, moved only slightly into plus territory.

Feature of the day was 629,300 shares of Sunasco at 10¼, up ⅛, the third largest block in history on a share basis but far out of the running on a dollar basis with the biggest blocks. Sunasco has been very active and higher in recent sessions. A company spokesman said he knew only of the previously announced agreement in principle to acquire Mauchly Associates Inc., as a reason for the heavy activity in the stock.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

BAY BRIDGES BUSINESS IS INCREASING

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The number of vehicles, 8,466,404, which crossed seven state-owned Bay Area bridges in March, was an increase of 5.8 per cent over the same month a year ago.

The Division of Bay Toll Crossings said traffic on Benicia-Martinez Bridge jumped 41.3 per cent and traffic on San Mateo-Hayward Bridge 22.2 per cent.

San Francisco-Oakland Bridge traffic was up only 1.9 per cent.

Poverty War Attorneys Claim Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two poverty program lawyers claim a victory in a Superior Court ruling that an automobile driver who loses his license under the state financial responsibility law can get it back if he was not at fault.

Gilbert Graham and Norman Kayfach of the Neighborhood Legal Assistance Foundation had challenged the law on behalf of Peter Alvarado and John Berberena.

They were deprived of licenses under the provision that anyone involved in an accident serious enough to be reported to the state must show he had liability insurance, or post cash bond, regardless of blame.

Superior Court Judge Robert J. Drewes Tuesday cited another law holding that the "use of the highway is a fundamental right" which cannot be withheld without judicial review.

The judge added that often the loss of a license deprives a person of the right to earn a living.

Alvarado and Berberena, contending they were blameless in the traffic accident, said they were too poor to post bonds.

Bus Drivers To Win Awards

Three school bus drivers in Marin are to receive awards in a statewide safety contest initiated this year by their employer, the Patchett Bus and Transportation Co.

Mrs. Alice Gardner of Reed School District will receive $200 awarded drivers traveling 76 miles or more daily.

Mrs. Margaret Dalton of Larkspur School District wins $200 for drivers in the 51 to 76 mile classification.

The company employs 220 school bus drivers under contract to 42 school districts in the state.
